Housewife, Son Escape Roaring Blaze In D.C.

A Daly City housewife recovering from injuries received in an auto accident some six weeks ago, and her 8-year-old son escaped a roaring gasoline-fed fire that swept through their home Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Elaine Crowley told investigators she was watching television in the living room of her Westlake home about 11 a.m. when her son Jimmy shouted that the garage was on fire. Flames were already spreading throughout the upper parts of the home via heater ducts as the mother and son fled screaming into the street.

Mayor Says:

Won't Put Name On Street In S.S.F.

South San Francisco Mayor Frank Bertucelli apparently doesn't mind his name being put on a city street, as long as the city street is "something to be proud of."

This is one way the mayor expressed his desire to mix any action to allow street name changes in the city's Willow Garden development.

It was back on April 25 that the law firm of Lyons and Morgan sent a letter to the councilmen requesting permission to change Nora Way to Cassinelli Lane, Sandra Court to Noonan Court and Susie Way to Bertucelli Avenue.

The reason for the changes, as stated in the letter, was to "recognize residents of South San Francisco who have contributed toward the growth and development" of the city.

At the last meeting, a second similar request was made.

However, the councilmen deferred action and passed the request on to the planning commission for study.

Mayor Bertucelli said he was not too proud of the way the area looks right now. "We can't all have palaces," he said, "but let's upgrade the landscaping of this area."

There have been many problems associated with the area. For one thing, the original set of plans for building on the site wasn't followed because the contractor went broke.

Louis Goss, public works director, said the area has "very poor layout" and there is a need for trees.

Attorney Dave Morgan, who authored the letter said, "The job is getting done."

Local 1481 of the American Federation of Teachers has voted to "join" the Jefferson Union High School District's Negotiating Council, it was disclosed today.

The president of the unit, Robert Delzell, said the proposal was passed by the AFT membership in the six Daly City-Pacifica high schools by a "close margin."

Delzell, noting all ballots are not in, said he was unable to disclose the actual vote.

"The question now," Delzell explained, "is whether we get one or two seats."

He said the union is expending its membership campaign, and letters have been sent district high school teachers, informing them of the voting results last week.

Delzell said he stated in the letter that the teachers had an opportunity to determine if they wanted the AFT to represent them.

The Terra Nova teacher added he had "talked to a number of teachers who felt that if we joined (the negotiating council), they would join us."

The AFT for several years had declined to sit with the other

Boyfriend Is Shot By Girl's Father After An Argument

A 19-year-old San Francisco youth was shot in the abdomen with a .38-caliber revolver Monday after a heated argument with his girlfriend's father, Daly City police said. The shooting occurred in Daly City.

Authorities at Mary's Help Hospital said Vernon Tucker, 19, of 346 Herman Street, San Francisco, was in critical condition.

An Anti-War 'Parade'—On To Westmoor

A group of some 50 to 60 persons from Westmoor High School were due to stage a 6 a.m. Wednesday march in Daly City to protest the Vietnam war, the police department disclosed Tuesday.

Verbal approval of a parade permit request from the Inquiry Club on the Westmoor campus has been given, Capt. David Hansen explained.

The march appears to be one of the few planned student activities in the Jefferson High School District schools as part of anti-war demonstrations.

Captain Hansen said a parade route from Southgate to Ocean Grove, near the hilltop Westmoor campus was specified.

Elsewhere in the district plans appeared nil. School officials were not aware of formal protest plans.

Thomas Panagoulous, principal of Pacifica's Terra Nova High School, commented, "I haven't heard a thing." He added, "None of my teachers have remarked on plans."

Vice principal Paul Perez at Serramonte High School said, "We plan school as usual."

San Bruno Girl Injured In Accident

A San Bruno girl remains under intensive care with a possible concussion today after falling from the fender of a moving vehicle.

Virginia Holster, 16, of 2370 Rosewood Drive, was taken to Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame, at about 5 p.m. Sunday.

San Bruno police said the young girl was riding on the right front fender of a vehicle driven by Darrell Bennight, 16, of 2320 Princeton Drive, San Bruno.

Lone Student 'Demonstrates' On DC Campus

A Westmoor High School student waving Nazi banners and shouting obscenities while apparently under the influence of drugs was hauled off to jail after a brief struggle with Daly City police Tuesday morning.

The 17-year-old youth was immediately suspended by the school authorities.

When police asked him who he was the youth replied: "Why, I am God!"

He was escorted to a waiting police car while his "following" stood by offering scattered jeers.

S.M. Woman Wins Contest

Preliminary plans for a $900,000 addition to the Northern Judicial District court building in South San Francisco were approved yesterday by the County Board of Supervisors.

Henry P. Tarratt, county director of building construction and general services, said the plans will provide for three additional courtrooms — two for the Superior Court and one for the Municipal Court.

JEFFERSON HIGH GROUP

Boosting An 'Image'

By FRANK LAPIERRE

What Jefferson High School needs right now is a big boost, not only to improve its community image, but to raise the spirits of students who have come in for some rather barbed criticism from various sources in recent months.

A new group — aptly named the "Jefferson Boosters Club" — has undertaken this mighty chore.

Comprised of concerned parents, administrators, instructors and students, the Boosters have set their sights on some difficult targets, namely to assist the school in whatever way they can whether it be financial or as mediators in disputes.

Robert Miller, co-president of the club, boasted that the newly founded organization was attended by more than 100 persons at its initial meeting last week.

"We are just interested residents of this community. We are not interested in racial matters, only in assisting Jefferson High School students," Miller said.

Presently, the club has a four-point goal: (1) To recruit interest in the school's activities by establishing various non-financial programs for students; (2) Purchasing of scoreboards for Jeff's two athletic fields (football and baseball); (3) Purchasing of band uniforms ($8,000) and; (4) Scholarship programs.

However, Miller admits the biggest job will be to stop the degrading of the school by local residents and re-build Jefferson's image to what it was a few short years ago.

And while the Boosters' membership will normally shy away from strictly racial matters at Jefferson ("That's for the Human Relations Commission") Miller and other club members recently met with school administrators and Daly City police lieutenant Philip LaBruzzi to work out a current "problem" affecting the entire student body at the high school.

The "problem" concerns a

FABBRI SUCCESSOR

Outside Applications For Chief Of Police Authorized

By BOB PETERSON

On the eve of recognition for a job well done, wheels were moving to include outside-the-city qualified applicants to replace South San Francisco Police Chief John Fabbri.

In the interim, Captain August Terragno will be the temporary chief of police.

Fabbri's last day was Sunday. Friday he was honored at a dinner at the South San Francisco Elks' Club. According to Assistant City Manager Larry Ross, tickets were all sold out, almost before they were printed.

Fabbri had been with the department for 19 years, and had been chief for the past 10 years. He resigned to head the Fremont Police Department.

Councilmen have held several executive sessions discussing whether replacement should be restricted to within the department or whether there should be open outside competition.

City Manager Tom McKenzie has been pressing for an open examination. Fabbri stressed there were qualified people in the department who could handle the job. And the South San Francisco Police Officers' Association also recommended a departmental-only exam, as did the city's personnel board.

It appears McKenzie's recommendation has won out — on a 3-2 council vote. According to McKenzie, City Attorney John Noonan is in the process of preparing an amendment to the city's personnel ordinance which will, in effect, give the council (which is the appointing body) the authority to decide the type of examination to be given.

"I felt an outside examination would give the widest choice possible to fill this position," said McKenzie. "This is quite a major position. The police department budget is over a million dollars and consists of more than 70 people."

Mayor Frank Bertucelli, who along with Councilman Pat

Ahern voted for the closed examination, issued a press release to make his stand known. He said the press release is in answer to "the many inquiries" he has received from concerned citizens. The release stated in part:

"I wish it known that I am opposed to an open examination as a former police officer in our city, I was active in instituting such cases."

Painful Shots?

Dog That Bit Boy Is Hunted In D.C.

Unless a black male Labrador retriever is found — and found fast — a young Daly City boy may have to undergo a painful, and sometimes dangerous, series of anti-rabies shots.

Sunday afternoon around 5:30 p.m. 11-year-old Patrick Dennis and his mother, Virginia Dennis, of 85 Rockridge Road, were having an outing at the Thomas Edison elementary school playground when a large black dog with a noticeable limp ran up and bit the boy on the back.

The child was rushed to Kaiser Hospital for treatment and observation.

The dog ran off.

Hospital authorities set next Monday as the deadline for finding the dog.

Anyone having information on the matter is asked to call the Daly City police department (992-1225) or the San Mateo County Humane Society.

A Humane Society spokesman said the dog will not be hurt. Normally an animal is confined for ten days for observation in such cases.

Band At Cap Wins Awards

Capuchino High School's marching band in San Bruno earned two sweepstakes awards and trophies as the best all-around band and the best in musicianship of the bands entered in the annual Northern California band competition at Concord.

The band was also awarded a trophy for being judged first in their classification for size of their school.

Curt Lesher, who won the runner-up trophy as drum major, led the band during the competition.

The band is under the direction of Ralph Bredenberg, assisted by Harry Spencer of the Capuchino Music Department.

High school bands from Sacramento to Fresno to the coast were competitors and were judged by members of the American Band Judges' Association.

ing the personnel ordinance. This ordinance established the rules and regulations of our civil service system and has been beneficial to both city employees and city government for the past 24 years.
"It is my feeling that we should stay with the policy to promote from within whenever there are qualified applicants. In this case we have heard many times that we do have qualified officers in our police department.
"Denial of the first chance to a vacancy within departments could well result in poor employee morale. Furthermore, I do not agree with any decision to hastily change the personnel ordinance for the purpose of removing certain powers from the personnel board."

Councilman Ahern could not be reached for comment.
Councilman Warren Steinkamp said, "I want the best possible qualified man as the chief of police. Through an open exam, we will be able to select through a broad field for a candidate.
"There is no doubt that we have qualified people in the department," said Steinkamp, "and being of such quality, I think they can stand any sort of outside competition."
Said Councilman Andrew Rocca, "The first obligation of ourselves as councilmen is to get the best possible chief that we can.

"If you limit the examination to just local people, you are defeating the very purpose that you are there for. I very much favor our local boys, and I hope very much that they're the ones that come up in the top group. I rather feel they will.
"However, if you are going to obtain the best possible man for the job, those taking the examinations shouldn't be limited just to our own group."
Councilman Frank Mammini also was unavailable for comment. He is in Washington, representing the city at an airport noise abatement conference.

handful of students and non-students who work in "rat-packs" to shake down other students for money. Four of the suspects were recently shipped off to Hillcrest Youth Guidance Center. School officials since claim the atmosphere of the campus has quieted considerably.

Miller promised to bridge the so-called "communications gap" that has developed between various groups on school campuses today.

To this end, a Town Forum will be held at the school on a monthly basis to air problems and complaints of students, parents and teachers.

Each person will be allotted time to speak and present his or her views on a subject, Miller said.

The motto of the new club is "PEP" which stands for "Provide, Enrich and Promote."
"Our aim is to 'Provide' financial assistance where needed through fund raising events; To 'Enrich' the learning of the students, and to 'Promote' the school in whatever way we can," Miller explained.

Miller thinks the Boosters Club will catch on among persons concerned with the future of the school — especially those connected with Jefferson either as students, teachers or parents of students.

Two years ago, the Parents-Teachers Association ceased to exist at Jefferson.

The reason, according to Miller, was a "complete lack of interest" on the part of those concerned.

"This is why we have steered away from relating our club in any way with the P-TA! We are school boosters and that's our only function — to boost Jefferson High School," Miller said.

Logan's topic was "Payless Drug Stores Still Sell Drugs." Logan recounted how Payless Stores opened in 1932 with sales of $6,000 per week. Today Payless grosses more than $2,000,000 a week in 27 California Stores. In spite of the fact that much of Payless's volume is in major appliances and soft lines, the successful chain operation still stresses the importance of its prescription pharmacy. Logan has been with the Payless Advertising Department for six years.

Arson Seen In Mt. San Bruno Fire

Authorities are investigating the possibility of arson in a grass and brush fire which burned over five acres on San Bruno Mountain Sunday.

The fire was the second major grass and brush blaze to confront Division of Forestry firemen in San Mateo County over the weekend.

The Sunday fire was reported at 5:10 p.m. on a portion of San Bruno Mountain owned by the Crocker Estate north of Guadalupe Canyon Road near Daly City.

The Division of Forestry reported that flames covered five acres before being brought under control shortly after 6 p.m.

Sheriff's Deputy S. D. McKinnon said that while firemen were battling the fire, a second blaze was discovered a short distance away on the east side of Guadalupe Canyon Road. The deputy and highway patrolmen reported that the remnants of a road flare were found at the scene of the second fire, which was quickly extinguished.

Witnesses reported seeing two teen-agers in a late-model dark green Dodge or similar vehicle throw the flares from the vehicle. There was a similar report of a grass fire caused by a fire in the town of Brisbane.

San Bruno police reported that they had been informed of instances of flares being thrown from a car in the town on Saturday, McKinnon said in his report.

REAL ESTATE BREAKTHROUGH — Driver John A. Vitiello of San Francisco had no intention of buying a house when he "dropped into" the Danco Real Estate office at 10 Park Plaza Drive Saturday. His car lost its brakes on a corner and careened into the building. No one was hurt. (Post Photo)

A Brake-Less Auto Rams D.C. Office; No Injuries

A station wagon driver made an impromptu visit to a Daly City real estate office at the Westlake Shopping Center Saturday after the vehicle lost its brakes while negotiating a corner.

The car, with driver John A. Vitiello of 5530 Mission Street, San Francisco, at the wheel, managed to turn off Alemany Avenue onto Park Plaza Drive before he fully realized the car had no brakes.

Careening off a parked car owned by Charles Witteban of Vallejo, the station wagon next jumped a curb, sheared off a stone planter box and smashed through three plate glass windows into the Danco Realty offices at 10 Park Plaza Drive.

So great was the force of the impact that a wall heater in the adjoining Post newspaper office was knocked from its position.

A desk inside the Danco office was torn to splinters by the impact.

Only minutes before the accident, real estate representative Frank Peaslee was busily going through his files at his corner desk. He left the office to keep an appointment, turned and watched the car plummet through the window.

His desk and chair where he was sitting was pushed into a far wall.

Manager Leo Fratessa, seated at his desk at the other end of the office, told police one minute everything was quiet and the next "there was a car in the office."

Fire police units responded to the scene shortly after 2 p.m. to keep traffic moving and prevent an outbreak of fire from leaking gasoline.

Rubbernecking motorists caused a minor traffic jam in the immediate area, however, police had traffic moving again within minutes.

Wrecking crews were less fortunate.

It took more than an hour to remove the station wagon from its "parking spot."

The angle in which the vehicle entered the building prevented removing it quickly. Both front tires were blown and the office's cement windowsills held the vehicle firmly from below.

Vitiello was shaken by the accident, but unhurt.

Daly City police were expected to continue their investigation of the incident today, starting with a complete check of the car's braking system.

Youth Is Found Collapsed In Street

An off-duty San Bruno police officer arrested a young man Saturday after he found the suspect lying in the middle of a San Bruno Street apparently under the influence of drugs.

Steven Edward Gomez, 18, of 511 Bayview Avenue, Millbrae, was booked for being under the influence, plus possession of marijuana.

Officer Joseph Kosiba said he was en route home at about 11:30 when he saw the suspect lying in the street at San Bruno Avenue, approximately 100 yards west of Princeton Drive.

According to Officer Kosiba, the youth tried to stand up, staggered a few steps and fell down. The suspect's speech also was slurred, police said.

After being taken to the police station, officers found the suspect to be carrying a small plastic bag containing a substance which appeared to be marijuana.

Volunteer Youth Program Proposed For San Bruno

By BOB PETERSON

San Bruno Police Chief Russell Cunningham has the dubious task of finding out how his men feel toward some type of volunteer youth program.

Chief Cunningham told the council last week in a study session that he would speak with Fire Chief Herbert Freitas on the matter to involve the fire department and also report back to the council within a month.

The concern for some type of volunteer youth-help program on the same level as the Police Athletic League, but not necessarily PAL, was requested by the park and recreation commission.

Commissioner Anthony Governale initially read a resolution he had prepared urging the city council to make it a required part of the duty of each member of the police department of patrolman grade to spend six hours (an arbitrary figure) of time per month as neighborhood recreation leaders.

Governale based his request on the fact the council had been required to cut back the park and recreation department budget in the amount of $21,000, thereby causing a reduction in the number of part-time personnel necessary to conduct an intermediate age and neighborhood recreation program.

The resolution also included reference to the fact the recent report of the crime prevention commission called for increased communication and cooperation between the citizens of San Bruno and its police department.

Mayor Neil Christal agreed in principle, saying a volunteer program would be fine but the specific designation of personnel for this purpose would become too costly to the city.

The mayor also pointed out that the $21,000 Governale was referring to was only a proposed budgetary amount of money. "It is not a budget until it is approved," said the mayor.

Chief Cunningham indicated that even though patrolmen receive time-and-a-half for extra duty work he only has about seven officers who pursue this avenue.

"I'd like to see every man on the force involved in it," said Cunningham, "as I'm sure it would pay dividends in public relations for the department."

Councilman George Corey said, "It has to be a voluntary program or you ruin the intent of what the commission had in mind — that is to build a rapport between the young person and the police officer as a person. It won't work if the officer is being paid to do it."

16 Appointments To Special Boards

Appointments to governing boards in 16 special service districts were made last week by the County Board of Supervisors.

In each case they were the only nominees for the respective positions and the appointments were made in lieu of elections. Election contests are scheduled for November 4 in 10 other districts. County Clerk-Recorder Marvin Church said it is the largest number of such elections to be scheduled at one time in this county.

The appointments:
Belmont Fire Protection — James W. Lewis; Colma Fire Protection — Paul Janguinetti Jr.; Dumbarton Fire Protection (Redwood City) — George Murphy; Menlo Park Fire Protection — A. LaDreu Stolp; Point Montara Fire Protection — Don L. Houston; Woodside Fire Protection — Parker E. Wood Jr.; Guadalupe Valley Municipal Improvement (Brisbane) — M. Sherman Eubanks; Dimond Public Utility (Daly City) — Charles F. Mason; Highlands Recreation (San Mateo) — Ruth M. Anderson, Robert E. Jones; Ladera Recreation (Portola Valley) — Henry A. Harrison Jr.; Howard E. Singhaus, James G. Rudolph; Bayshore Sanitary (Daly City) — Elmer J. Aydelott, John Broda; Menlo Park Sanitary — Lawrence H. Cook, Roy L. Grey; Montara Sanitary — Henry W. Colma Plants Win Honors

Pacific Nurseries of Colma will receive its fourth and fifth consecutive national beautification awards at a Washington, D.C. ceremony October 15.

Mrs. Richard M. Nixon will present the awards, as well as just 13 others to various U.S. Nursery firms, at an American Association of Nurserymen banquet of some 300 persons at Washington's Statler-Hilton Hotel.

Pacific Nurseries General Manager Louise Schenone, a resident of San Carlos, will accept the awards on behalf of his firm.

It is the fourth year Pacific Nurseries has been so honored. Basis for these latest awards was excellence of plant material provided the new Oakland Museum and the Northgate Shopping Center in Marin County.

RESERVOIR
Quabbin Reservoir, the largest body of water in Massachusetts, is 38.6 square miles in area.

Hearing Set On Electrical Code Change

Public hearing on the proposed adoption of a new electrical code for San Mateo County was scheduled by the Board of Supervisors last week for 2:30 p.m. December 2.

For the purposes of the hearing, the board approved the recommendation of Henry P. Tarratt, director of building construction and general services, that the code permit the use of non-metallic sheathed cable in wood frame houses.

That one point, Tarratt told the board, is the only point of controversy in the proposed code. But it is a controversy of considerable proportions. Both sides, the electrical contractors and workers on one side opposing the change and the home builder on the other side favoring the provision, have launched extensive campaigns in support of their causes.

The general contractors contend that non-metallic cable is perfectly safe for ordinary residential construction and agree that it should be allowed in order to reduce the cost of housing.

Electrical contractors and workers, however, claim that non-metallic cable is too hazardous for the money it saves — about $50 on a $25,000 house.

Investigator's Death May Cause Change in Betting Ring's Trial

Attorneys for some of the 17 members of an alleged north county betting ring indicted by the grand jury on September 15 indicated in Superior Court in Redwood City they will move for dismissal of charges against their clients because of the death of District Attorney's Inspector Fred W. Keyworth, one of the two main investigators in the case.

All 17 defendants and eight attorneys were on hand this morning for arraignment before Superior Court Judge Conrad B. Reich.

Judge Reich put the cases of 15 of the defendants over until 10 a.m. on November 13 to hear motions to dismiss charges and for suppression of evidence.

Meeting On Park Shool

San Bruno City Manager Gerald Vergeer has been instructed to set up a meeting date between representatives of the city and the San Bruno Park School Board to iron out problems involving joint use of school property.

Vergeer will represent the city administration, Councilman George Corey will represent the cases of Theodore Pretzger, who asked to represent himself in court Wednesday and John F. Kellog, 45, a San Bruno bartender who asked that the court appoint a new attorney for him because he is without funds to retain an attorney, were continued until 9 a.m. Friday for further proceedings by Judge Reich.

Attorney Thomas L. Bocci argued it is up to the district attorney's office to determine who will stand trial and which defendants will have charges dismissed against them because of the "untimely death of Mr. Keyworth." Keyworth dropped dead while playing tennis in Redwood City a week ago Sunday.

Judge Reich agreed it appears likely that some of the charges will be dismissed after Deputy District Attorney Robert Bishop noted "one of the witnesses" before the grand jury has died.

Although 13 of the defendants agreed to waive their constitutional right for a speedy trial so the trial could be put over until next month, Pretzger told the court he wanted to go to trial immediately. He asked that charges against him be dismissed on the grounds the evidence placed before the grand jury was "hearsay."

Bishop said there are some 100 to 150 pages of reports involved in the evidence in the case.

Mass Search Of Lockers Is Opposed

By WILL E. THOMAS

An all-inclusive, massive search of high school students' lockers for narcotics without even minimal suspicions would incur the opposition of most North County educators.

This, in fact, is the reaction of three Jefferson High School District administrators to the current search-the-lockers, "Project Turnoff" proposal from Dr. Max Rafferty, the state's Superintendent of Public Instruction, that has gained a nod of approval by the State Board of Education.

On the other hand, it was indicated that if the "pitch" were to open students' lockers only if the locker is suspected as a hiding place for drugs, then Dr. Max and the others are too late — for that's something Jefferson High District school officials have been doing all along.

"We've entered lockers historically," explained the district's superintendent, Edward D. Morgan.

"If someone believes something is in a locker that should not be there, it's sort of incumbent upon us to determine if it is there," Morgan said.

All principals' offices have master keys to the lockers, and often they are opened, Morgan said, at parental request when a student is ill and wants to try to keep up with his studies in the meantime, and his books and materials are obtained from the locker for him.

"I don't see what all the publicity is about," Morgan said, "except that it came from Max."

S.S.F. Water Meters To Be Costly

South San Francisco councilmen have been told they'll have to pay for future water meter installations in the new 2½-acre (Callan Park West) and 10-acre park and future landscape areas of Westborough Boulevard.

The don't like the idea. As a result, City Manager Tom McKenzie has been instructed to investigate the possibilities of obtaining California Water Service metering in these areas.

The Westborough County Water district, which normally services this area, refused a request by the city for a waiver of the storage and transmission costs for the future water meter installations.

In a letter to Robert Maxey, superintendent, park and recreation department, the acting general manager of the Westborough County Water District, Gene Aiello, said:

"The board sincerely wished to extend all the cooperation possible, but was in a difficult position. As you know, from our previous discussions, the storage and transmission fees are the source of all of the capital funds required for improvements to the system."

Aiello also pointed out that costly improvements in the district would have to be made this fiscal year, including construction of a new transmission line when the extension of Westborough Boulevard takes place. Plus the fact that West Park must be interconnected into the Pacifica Christen Hill reservoir to insure pressure to that area.

"Taxes are already oppressive in the district; the bond market is virtually nonexistent," continued the letter. "The money for this and other work must be available soon."

"The only feasible means available to the board is to ask those persons and entities that require the service to pay for them. No one is too happy about the situation but, unfortunately, that is the way it is."

Maxey, through an inter-office memorandum, informed the councilmen costs for meter installation for the 2½-acre park, as well as the storage and transmission charges, were included as part of the contractor's expenses.

He said the 10-acre park meter installation and storage and transmission charges cost is to be borne by the city.

Two meters will be required in this park; one meter for the irrigation system and one meter for the domestic water service. These meter costs, including storage and transmission charges will cost approximately $3,500. This is in addition to the $260,250 contract let to A&J Shooter, Inc.

S.S.F. Youth Is Accused Of Whipping an Auto

A south San Francisco youth was arrested early Friday and charged with whipping another man's car with a heavy chain.

Booked on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon was Anthony R. Gomez, 18, 203 California Street, South San Francisco.

He was arrested at his home at 2 a.m., after officers matched the description of the vehicle driven by two chain-swinging men, to the known description of Gomez' pickup truck.

Thomas C. DeJournett, 24, 8 South Eldorado, San Mateo, a Marine on leave en route to Camp Pendleton, was the victim.

He told police he was driving south on El Camino Real, near Millbrae Avenue, at about 11 p.m., when someone in a passing pickup truck threw a paper cup full of soft drink and ice, at his car.

DeJournett said he followed the pickup, hoping to find a police car and report the incident. Finally, he said, the pickup forced him to a halt on Donnelly Avenue. Two young men got out and approached, grabbing heavy chains out of the bed of the truck.

"So you wanna play games?" said one, and began swinging. The chain lashed car across his open window, DeJournett said, and he barely ducked. The crashing chain smashed his car door, inside and out, and the brutal pair took several more swipes at his car before departing.

2 Escapees Awakened At Gunpoint

Two Soledad State Prison escapees on Friday morning were awakened from a sound sleep by armed police standing outside their hotel door.

Following an anonymous tip, South San Francisco police apprehended the two men at the International Inn, 326 South Airport Blvd.

Police said Hugh Nichols and Steven Ray Pariset, both white males, aged 22, were picked up by prison officials at approximately 3:30 a.m. today. Nichols is serving time for first degree robbery and Pariset for possession of marijuana.

After receiving the anonymous report shortly after midnight that two escapees were staying at the hotel, members of the police department sealed off the area adjacent to the room.

Police said they received excellent cooperation from the management and staff of the Inn in clearing bystanders away from the area.

Once the area was sealed off had not determined the cause.

sed, the suspects did not emerge. Police then advised the room's occupants that they would use tear gas. The suspects came out peacefully, one at a time, with their hands in the air, police said.

Police told the suspects that they had two minutes to come out of the room with their hands up. After several minutes pas-

Fire Rages In Vallemar

Fire raged over 14 acres of grass and brush in the Vallemar section of Pacifica Sunday. Though it caused no damage, the fire tied up fire fighting personnel between 1:20 and 5 p.m. in an area north of Nataqua Street.

Pacifica firemen said they had not determined the cause.

Woman in D.C. Beaten, Robbed

Three men broke into a home in the Bayshore section of Daly City early last Friday and beat and robbed the lone female occupant before fleeing with some $40 in cash and an undetermined amount of jewelry.

Mrs. Tillie Manzo, 41, said she awoke shortly after 2 a.m. this morning to find three Negro men standing around her bed.

One of the men hit her in the face, knocking the woman unconscious. When she regained consciousness a few minutes later, her hands were tied behind her back with a black scarf.

The trio demanded to know where she kept her money and after kicking and beating her some more, Mrs. Manzo told them where the money and jewelry was stored.

After gagging the victim, the trio systematically ransacked the house, ripping the phone from the wall before fleeing.

Police said entry to the home was made through a garage door.

Descriptions were vague because the victim said she caught only a glimpse of the men before being knocked unconscious and then blindfolded. Last week, a lone Negro man broke into a Daly City home, bound and gagged his victim and raped her before leaving the scene.

It was the second such incident in two weeks.

In the latest incident the victim was not sexually molested, police said.

D.C. Hippy Steals A New Car

It just wasn't Robert Moses' day Thursday.

After looking over a lot full of cars at the Foreign Car Center, 6601 Mission Street, in Daly City, Moses decided to get behind the wheel of a sporty roadster for a demonstration drive around the block.

He made it to the corner where a "hippy" jumped into the seat next to him, threatened the potential car buyer with a knife and booted him out of the vehicle.

The last Moses, or the people at the Foreign Car Center, saw of the car it was roaring down the road with the "hippy" at the wheel.

Police still have not recovered the stolen car.

TV, Stereo Guns Are Stolen

A colored television set, stereo unit, amplifier and speakers, plus two revolvers were stolen yesterday from the home of Ronald Cook and Raymond Marshall at 174 Werner Street, Daly City.

After reading this you may never buy a new car again.

You'll lease instead. If you enjoy haggling over the price of a car, this ad is not for you. But if you want to forget shopping around (to say nothing of that fat down payment), you'll lease your next car from First Western Bank instead of buying. You'll drive away in the model of your choice, knowing you're taking advantage of the bargaining power of a $950 million bank that doesn't favor one car over another.

How much will you have to shell out per month? It depends. It depends on things like the make and model, the length of lease and the extra stuff you want on your car. Whatever the car, nobody—but nobody—can lease you a car for less than we can. A two-year lease, for instance, will probably cost you up to $300 less from us. The main reason is because we're the source of cash—the money factory. This also means you don't have to go through a leasing middleman who wants a piece of the action.

Are some cars better to lease than others? Of course! Sometimes it's even cheaper to lease a more expensive car. And since we know which cars retain their value better, you'll get the financial facts straight from us regarding the best one for you. Best of all, our professional and unbiased opinion won't cost you a red cent.

But suppose you still want to buy a car? You'll still be talking to the right people. Whether you lease a car through any of our 94 branches or borrow the money to buy, we'll still give you a free checking account. You see, we really want to help the people who helped us to become a $950 million bank.

Assessor's Error Led To Tax Hike

By BOB PETERSON

The San Bruno Park School District is sticking out like a sore thumb as the reason San Bruno is the only city in the county with an overall increase in the composite tax rate picture.

District superintendent George Lawry explains that "by being honest and good hearted, we put ourselves in the hole."

Lawry was referring to a $4 billion taxing error by the assessor's office made last year in the assessed valuation of unsecured assets.

County Controller Ed McGuire said the increase in the school district tax rate is not entirely due to the error.

"San Bruno taxpayers are paying this year what they should have paid last year because of the error, plus the fact there was an increase in the school budget."

Concerning the error, McGuire explained that the County Assessor had billed United Air Lines in early June last year. Shortly after the assessment, the assessor found an error in the figures.

So in late June, United Air Lines was re-billed. And in July, a cancellation of the first assessment was submitted to the County Board of Supervisors. However, both the first and second assessment had also been placed in the computers. The result was a double assessment. The second bill didn't get cancelled by the supervisors until August and the school board didn't become aware of the error until April this year.

"When we build a budget, we anticipate an expenditure and income. We then apply a tax rate of assessed valuation to balance the budget," said Lawry.

"The $4 million naturally increased the wealth of the district. As a result, last year we reduced the proposed tax rate by 16 cents."

Last year's area-wide tax rate for the school district was $3.74 per $100 of assessed valuation. (Had the district not been notified they were $4 million wealthier than they thought, the tax rate would have been $3.90.) This year's tax rate is 83 cents higher, at $4.57 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The mistake meant the school district had to cut their operating budget by $114,000, according to Lawry.

"We almost had to go to the state and ask them to pass special legislation to help get the district out of the red," said Lawry.

"The district did everything it could to balance the budget. Administrators did substitute teaching, and any other angle we could think of was used," he said.

"We had to cut services and use up every penny in the district in order to end up in the black. Most affected were the elementary schools in the district." (Their rate jumped from $3.69 to $4.50.)

"This year we have to build up our reserve," said Lawry. "If we were to have an emergency, we'd have no way to er rate would be for this year take care of it."

He emphasized that the high-only, feeling confident the unsecured assessed valuation next year would bring in sufficient money, so the tax rate would return to the 1968-69 level.

S.S.F. Band May Tour Germany

A European trip is in the future for South San Francisco's El Camino High School's prize-winning concert jazz band. The band which has first prize in their division in various Western states competitions for the past three years was invited to spend two weeks in Germany next April.

Principal Bob Keropian said that the band had been admired by many foreign visitors and the invitation came last week.

The only problem will be the raising of $25,000 in funds to transport the 32-piece band and four faculty advisors to Germany, but a campaign drive will be started soon.

The band, including singers and dancers with a jazz beat, is directed by Ted Marr and his wife, Lysbeth. The band hopes to tour Westphalia, Dusseldorf, Berlin and Bonn.

Laguna's EOC Budget Nixed

The county's Economic Opportunities Commission Thursday approved a $82,715 budget for Head Start programs in four cities during the coming year—but not in Pacifica, where the Laguna Salada School District was criticized at a previous meeting for not providing classrooms for such a program. The new budget is less than an originally proposed budget of $91,372 which was rejected by the Office of Economic Opportunity as not being within its guidelines. It is more, however, than $78,000, the figure to which the budget was then cut to gain the federal agency's approval, but which caused unhappiness among workers in the program because it restricted them too much.

The budget provides $15,644 for a Redwood City program; $15,820 for a program in San Mateo city schools; $15,705 for the East Palo Alto Day School, and $14,088 in South San Francisco. In addition, $13,858 is allocated for central administration.

Edward R. Becks, executive director of the commission, was invited to a meeting of the board of trustees of the school district last night as a result of an article in The Times which reported the criticism of the district.

In a letter to Becks, James R. Brian, district superintendent, wrote:

"The local board members are disturbed by the enclosed article from the San Mateo Times headlined 'Laguna Salada Snubbing Poor.' In the article you are quoted as saying, 'We've had some bad experiences,' apparently in reference to our program in Pacifica."

"The board would like you and any other members of your staff whom you may select to attend the meeting so that we may determine the extent to which your criticisms are justified. We feel our district has made every effort to comply with Head Start requirements, and our board members are disturbed by the criticism."

Becks replied that he would be unable to attend the school board's meeting last night because of the commission meeting, but that he and Gerald Moore, commission chairman, would be "glad" to attend the next school board meeting.

"I would not be attending to either explain or apologize for the newspaper article," Becks warned, however.

"At this point the EOC does not have a Head Start in Laguna Salada Union School District so there is really nothing to discuss in reference to the past program for we had no contact with you; but, rather, we worked with Mr. Bill Dodge,

Chance To Qualify For Portola Hike

Another opportunity for Bay area residents to qualify for an unusual Portola "Descubridor" certificate are coming up soon.

The Descubridor is awarded only to those who follow the path of Portola to the spot on Sweeney Ridge in Pacifica where Gaspar de Portola and his expedition discovered San Francisco Bay on November 4, 1769.

So far, during this bicentennial year, at least 11600 persons have qualified for their Descubridor Certificate (Spanish for Discoverer) by making the trek — duplicating the journey taken 200 years ago.

Bruno Youngsters Robbed at Gunpoint

Two San Bruno youngsters, who said they were hitchhiking in the area of Sneath Lane at Skyline Boulevard Oct. 6, claimed the three occupants of a car that stopped to give them a ride robbed the pair at gun and knife-point.

The boys, one 15 years old, the other 16, reported to San Bruno police that they were hitchhiking between 7:30 and 8:30 p.m.

A car in which three teenagers were riding stopped, and the two youngsters got in. They were driving on Sharp Park Road, which runs in both Pacifica and San Bruno, when the driver assertedly pulled out a .45-caliber revolver and the two passengers each displayed six-

Contrast In Home Permit

Here's contrast:

The Pacifica Building Inspection Department last month issued permits for a $65,000 shopping center — a modern touch as well as for a $10,000 horse barn — which stirs memories of the past.

Forty-two Pacifica permits issued in September amounted to $440,086 in valuation, Philip W. Mayo, chief building official disclosed this week.

The figure for this year represents a valuation and permit decline from last year, when 59 permits, carrying a valuation of $548,125, were issued, Mayo explained.

During September of this year the department collected $3,693 in permit fees, according to Mayo's report.

Thirteen new residences were valued at $343,100, 18 residential alterations at $15,920, five residential additions at $30,036, three retaining walls at $3,100.

Halverson Heads D.C.-Colma C-C

Don Halverson, an official of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, was elected by the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce recently to head that organization for the next year.

Halverson succeeds Elio Fontana as president of the chamber. The chamber's Board of Directors disclosed the membership's choice at a meeting Thursday.

First vice president will be Robert Bernicchi, manager of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District, with second vice president James Sargent, an official of Standard Builders, also on the new slate.

William Sweeney Jr., remains as treasurer. The chamber retained four incumbent directors, including Daly City mayor Bernard (Bud) Lyeett; postmaster Vincent Murphy; Elio Fontana, and; William Sweeney Jr. New director is attorney Paul Hupf.

Meanwhile, the chamber will have as its featured speaker at this week's general meeting San Mateo county supervisor (Mrs.) Jean Fassler.

The public is invited to attend the luncheon scheduled to be held at noon at Toto's Restaurant on Junipero Serra Boulevard in Daly City.

Television Set Stolen

A portable television set, radio and an electric guitar were stolen from the home of Alfonso Yasonia at 455 Hillside Boulevard.

Daly City police said the burglar entered the home after smashing out a kitchen window.

TERRA NOVA TOPICS...

By Alice Reichert

THERE IS SOMETIMES the opportunity for a senior with enough credits and an exceptional grade point standing to attend college simultaneously with his remaining high school classes.

The advantages of this arrangement are innumerable as this writer can attest, having gone through the experience of helping to open Skyline College this semester under this arrangement.

For anyone who intends to later attend college full-time, this opportunity is an especially good one. Instead of going head-first into an atmosphere totally alien to the way of high school, the chances are that the first taste of college, starting with one or two classes, will better prepare the student for full-time college classes.

College presents a new freedom; a freedom likely to be taken advantage of by the unprepared freshman student.

One learns through the experience of this opportunity that freedom demands a new responsibility to one's studies, and that they can't be left until the last minute, as is sometimes done in high school.

The "freshman feeling" is never a comfortable one, and it is a great advantage to start the full freshman course without it. The first quarter will get off to a better start without the worry of knowing the campus and general proceedings, and just generally being the underdog.

Louanne Heath

The busiest ladies in the community on this fine morning are undoubtedly the members of the House Tour committee of Mary's Help Hospital Guild!

This afternoon seven San Francisco showplace homes will be opened to permit tourticket holders the opportunity to garner attractive and clever interior decorating hints, see gracious hostesses wearing the latest in chic daytime apparel from McDonald's of Serramonte, and give everyone a few moments of relaxation at a champagne and tea reception in the Forest Hill Club House.

Mrs. Victor Dowdle is chairman of the committee which arranged the benefit for the coronary care unit to be installed in Mary's Help Hospital, according to Mrs. Mario Mangini, publicity chairman for the guild.

Sunday morning, beginning after the 8 a.m. Mass at Holy Angel's Catholic Church, the members of the Holy Angel's Women's Guild will sponsor a doughnut sale in the parish hall.

According to Mrs. John Lagomarsino, publicity chairman, a wide variety of Hunt's Doughnuts will be available to shoppers at this pre-fashion show money raising sale. Mrs. Patrick Regan, promotions chairman, is in charge of the sale and she will accept pre-sale orders from anyone calling her at 755-2380.

Another item on the guild's agenda is a Ladies' League luncheon to be held on October 29. Mrs. Stanley Kettell and the guild's president, Mrs. Raymond Nightingale, have announced that everyone is welcome to attend the social gathering between noon and 2 p.m.

For information call Mrs. Kettell, 755-0449 or Mrs. Nightingale, 755-1725.

Further down the Peninsula, the monthly Communion Mass, to be attended by the membership of the Altar-Rosary Sodality of the Good Shepherd, is on the calendar for 9:30 a.m. According to Mrs. Stanley Prowse, publicity chairman, Father Efram Trettel, of St. Anthony's Parish in San Francisco, will officiate.

An informal coffee and doughnut breakfast will be held in the parish hall at the conclusion of the rites.

Halloween is the time of year when even the most timid and retiring let down their hair a bit and join in seasonal shenanigans.

Members of the Our Lady of Mercy Festival committee are inviting everyone to take part in the fun and come to a Funny Faces dance and midnight buffet on Friday, October 24.

Mrs. Phillip Gebow and John Jurgens are the chairmen of the funfest, which will be held in the parish hall.

According to Mrs. James Kelleher, publicity chairman for the Westlake Catholic Women, this is the first time in the parish's history that the traditional welcome to new members of the parish has been coupled with a Halloween party.

Dancing will be to the music of Glenn Kerr and his orchestra.

Decorations, as well as reservations, will be the responsibility of the chairmen and anyone wishing to arrange for tickets, costing $2.50 per person, may do so by calling Mrs. Glebow at 756-0408 or Jurgens at 992-3302.

Plans are progressing for Mercy's Mission Belles, a luncheon and fashion show sponsored by the Mother's Guild of Mercy High school, according to Mrs. Albert Buccell, publicity chairman.

Mrs. Vincent Murphy, chairman of the November 15 event, announced completed plans for the show and named the committee members for the event. Assisting Mrs. Murphy as co-chairman is Mrs. Michael Dudley; Mrs. John Cronin and Mrs. John Scudder, reservations; Mrs. Bern Box and Mrs. John McInerney, investment; Mrs. Raymond Rinaldi, decorations; Mrs. George Mellinger, models; Mrs. James Scullion, hostesses; Mrs. John Cunnell and Mrs. August Rosasco, program, and committee members Mrs. Martin Hughes, Mrs. John McBride, Mrs. Frank Male, Mrs. George Long, Mrs. Carroll Meagher, Mrs. Louis Laggar, Mrs. Richard Fraher, Mrs. Rene Chapot, Mrs. William Minton, Mrs. Stanley Kettell and Mrs. Buccell.

Members of the guild will be modeling clothes from McDonald's of Serramonte.

The proceeds from the luncheon will be used for educational aids that will benefit the students of Mercy High school. Reservations, costing $4 per person are available to persons calling Mrs. Cronin, 731-5578 or Mrs. Scudder, 566-5373.

November 22 and 23 are the dates selected by the Santa's Boutique Committee of St. Martin's Episcopal Church for the annual Christmas bazaar sponsored by the ladies of the church.

According to Mrs. Doris Fox, publicity chairman for the bazaar, specialty shops will be set up in the downstairs rooms of the church and visitors may select items from a wide variety of offerings especially designed for the holiday season.

Mrs. Richard Dominguez, Mrs. Charles McCaffery, Mrs. Allan Mori, Mrs. Allyn Sliter, Mrs. Bonnie Johnston, Kay Hoover and Betty Casey will each be in charge of special portions of the bazaar. Members of the altar guild have pledged homemade goodies for the pantry sale, members of the EYC, the youth group of the parish, will handle children's games, and members of the choir will serve a delicious dinner on Saturday evening.

MEETING PLANNED — Among those who will attend the 8 p.m., October 20, meeting of the Jefferson Council of parent-teachers associations will be Jefferson Elementary School District Superintendent Frank Greenwood (left) and Jefferson High School District Superintendent Edward D. The 'Quiet Majority' Speaks Up at Westmoor

By WILL E. THOMAS

There are indications the "quiet majority" on Westmoor High School's hilltop campus in Daly City is not remaining mute any longer in the light of activity Wednesday in which multi-colored armbands worn by a few students were ripped off and burned by other Rams.

Vice Principal Margaret Riggs said a minority of "50 or 100" of 1,900 Westmoor students wore red, yellow, "jungle" or polka-dotted armbands, asserting for a variety of reasons, but primarily, she explained, to note the anniversary of Che Guevara's death.

Principal Clay Kollmann gained that impression also. Unsigned notices posted Tuesday around campus urged students to "wear a red band on October 8 for Che and in support of the struggle of the Latin-American and Vietnamese people to be free."

The notices, Kollmann said, were on yellow sheets of paper and were stuck to windows and walls with small stickers "that had 'brown power' written on them."

Once the armband movement began, the majority of students appeared to be in opposition, it was pointed out yesterday.

On Tuesday Jim Musselwhite, a junior student, who frequently in the past has dissented with school administration over student involvement and policies in general, objected to a directive from Kollmann that banned wearing of symbols.

Musselwhite, Kollmann noted, called the American Civil Liberties Union, which, in turn, informed Kollmann that to ban symbols (like armbands) would be an infringement upon the students' right of free speech.

Apparently the ACLU spokesman pointed to a ruling of last spring by the U.S. Supreme Court in this regard.

Kollmann contacted Dist. Supt. Edward Morgan's office in Westlake Shopping Center and an opinion from the district attorney's office in Redwood City was obtained.

The gist of the district attorney's opinion was that symbols and the like were permissible, so long as there was no disruption of classroom activity.

Thus a second notice from Kollmann was posted Wednesday, modifying the Tuesday directive.

Previously, the school has banned the wearing, for instance, of even lettered attire of bowling teams, and other objects symbolic of special, non-campus activity, Miss Riggs explained.

She pointed out that, as far as she personally could determine, the arm bands represented everything from Che and world peace to "brown power."

"Some," she said, "wore them because they were told not to."

Primarily she pointed to the Che anniversary, although certain students claimed to be supporting "freedom" and a "humanitarian cause," she added.

The result was one in which a previously "quiet majority" appeared irked.

"A lot of our kids were upset by those who were wearing armbands," Miss Riggs explained, asserting that at least "three skirmishes that we know of" occurred between the wearers of the bands and the non-wearers.

Bands were torn off the wearers' arms and burned, she said, by the other students.

Ironically, the school official mentioned, after objection by nonwearers to the armbands, a group of those wearing the symbols (or their leaders) appealed to the school administration to curb the "remarks" being made against them by other students.

Miss Riggs declared that the administration countered the plea negatively, with an assertion advanced that those students not in support of the Che philosophy and/or the other causes had the same right of free speech and expression that the arm-banders went to the ACLU to gain support for.

That some of the pupils "rebelled" over Kollmann's initial directive banning symbols apparently was not entirely unexpected, Miss Riggs indicated.

She said this segment of the Ram student body, more than the others, knew why they were wearing the armbands: "Because they were told not to!"

However, she said, some of the other armband group "didn't know the issues."

Miss Riggs said "many couldn't explain their stands." She added, "I think the kids ought to know what they're standing for before they take to the soap box. I don't know how clearly the kids understand the issues."

In explanation, she continued, "Like a lot of voters who don't know what they're voting for, a lot of kids don't know what they're supporting."

Anticipated "trouble" after school Wednesday between the student factions failed to materialize, authorities said.

Were teachers involved in the armband exhibition?

"We know of some teachers who were sympathetic," Miss Riggs asserted, "but of none who were encouraging (the students) . . . and none that we know of wore armbands."

Activist Musselwhite — who is listed on the Board of Trustees agenda next Thursday night to talk about "Distribution of Air Force Literature on the Westmoor Campus" — is thought by some persons to have underestimated the reaction of other students to the armband movement this week.

The reaction, according to Miss Riggs, is the result of the "quiet majority" becoming "more vocal."

She said she sees it at Westmoor and "in society in general."

Principal Kollmann agreed, "I think that is the state of it." There may be occasion to measure reaction against it today, should the push of the anti-Vietnam War campaign be extended to Westmoor and the other Jefferson High School District campuses.

FRANK LA PIERRE

How to Handle A Habitual Complainer

I HATE TO WORK with someone peeking over my shoulder! So how do you think I feel with all them Russians (seven at last count) looking down on me?

IF THERE'S ONE THING the Daly City Council (or any council for that matter) appreciates, it's a habitual complainer. So, Dear Reader, you can guess how they feel about a woman living over in "Old" Daly City who just registered in writing, her 33rd complaint of the year about a neighbor.

THE ASSEMBLY RACE hasn't even (officially) started yet, but it's no secret that North County restaurateur Frank "Toto" Spadarella is off and running. During an off-the-cuff conversation recently he referred to assemblyman Leo J. Ryan as "the county's only paid school lobbyist in Sacramento."

AND SPEAKING OF RYAN — That was an impressive turnout for Assemblyman Leo Ryan's testimonial dinner at the new Le Baron Hotel in Millbrae. The only apparently unimpressed person attending was guest speaker Dr. S. I. Hayakawa — he fell asleep waiting his turn to speak.

D.C. FIRE DEPARTMENT Battalion Chief Wayne Alexander was recently elected president of the far western section of the International Municipal Signal Association which covers California, Utah, Nevada and Arizona. The association concerns itself with folks who take care of communications — fire alarms, traffic lights, et al.

OPERATION INTERCEPT — "They" (meaning the U.S. Border Customs down Mexico way) may be lifting a lot of pot out of circulation, but a heckuva lot more of the stuff is getting to users in this area. Witness the high number of arrests (about 16) for possession of pot in Daly City alone in the past three weeks. Mostly kids. Mostly one weed. Mostly a headache. Interesting note: the price of weed has jumped 300 percent, thanks to that Operation Intercept fiasco.

RUMOR DEPARTMENT — Ralston Purina talking "purchase" with owners of the Collopo property on the corner of Market and Mission streets. The multi-storied Collopo home was torn down last week to make way for a street widening project. A sizeable chunk will still be left over. Ralston Purina owns the Jack-in-the-Box drive-in a short distance away on Mission.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? — Last April the law firm of Lyons and Morgan asked South San Francisco to change some street names in the Willow Gardens housing development. For months they heard nothing on their suggestion, which would have changed the name of Nora Way to Cassinelli Lane; Sandra Court to (city attorney John) Noonan Court, and Susie Way to (mayor Frank) Bertucelli Avenue.

The matter was revived at the last council meeting, but received less than enthusiastic response from the mayor. Said Bertucelli: "I don't think there should be any names changed unless you have something to be proud of."

In other words, the mayor wants the streets nicely escaped before his name is attached. Personally, we'd like to see a Fabbri Freeway; Aiello Avenue; and a Stuller Street.

BITS AND PIECES — Councilman Frank Pacelli's wife, Claire, recovering at St. Mary's Hospital following surgery . . . It's a girl — Meredith — for officer and Mrs. John McHenry . . . The story going around town that crime has DECREASED in Daly City over the past year is erroneous. It has INCREASED. From 1300 arrests in 1968 to over 1500 arrests this year already . . . Branderburg - Staedler associates have withdrawn their one change request to build apartments on a parcel near Hoffman, Wyandotte, Chester and Sylvan streets.

WATCH FOR SEVERAL other North County fire departments to join the International Association of Firefighters — like Daly City.

A SMALL DALY CITY child may lose the sight of one precious eye because another child unknowingly tossed a piece of debris at him. The rubble was picked up at the scene of an abated nuisance on Santa Barbara street. But the owner neglected to clean up ALL the junk. One complaint from little Ricky Huertas' mother and city attorney Albert Polonsky was on the phone. City crews cleaned the entire area up within the hour. Our source tells us the property owner will get the bill. Is that all?

A Weight Watcher

WHO IN THE DEVIL ever would have thought 150-pound slimweights would have to worry about packing around too much weight!

When we wrote this piece, it was while under the vile effects of hunger, brought about not so much through poverty as a rather troublesome eye that looked into a full length mirror for the first time in years!

"That's a hell of a stomach," we mused, more lovingly than hatefully. We patted the growth endearingly; it was all ours!

"Think 'slim,'" chuckled a tot, though he shouldn't ought and he got a swat.

"Think 'fat,'" we replied, looking back over a multitude of years (not as many as some of you, granted) in which "fat" was a joke, not a real, living protruding substance.

Yeah ask anyone who knows and will admit to the years back when . . . they wouldn't even let us on a football field, among other hazardous battle zones, for fear the wind would come all agustin' and cause a body transplant.

ONE HUNDRED FIFTY pounds — no more, no less . . . and that's the way it went for lo' those many years. One hundred ninety-two pounds — no less, some days more — and that's what the diet's for.

DON'T LET last week's protest of "Arm Band Day" by the majority of students at Westmoor High School (see story above) lead you to think the same thing will happen if today's Anti-Vietnam War demonstrations expand to campus.

The war generally is unpopular and the students, contrary to some views, often are able to judge the merits of individual happenings.

Doubtful that you'll find many of the youngsters down-thumbing those persons who feel compelled to protest the Vietnam war. Most of us adults don't think much of war, either . . . we just don't demonstrate.

SPEAKING OF Westmoor, as we will be most of the space today, as it turns out, one teacher (Darrow) Friday quit, suddenly, and another (Jones) hasn't been on campus for several days, and the word is . . . he might not be back. Both are art teachers.

SOME FOLKS, citizens, as well as educators, are wanting to know where in blue blazes are the parents of vandals.

Like, mom and dad, where were YOUR kids when Westmoor got itself all painted up in gilded four-letter words and other phrases, Saturday night?

While we're sure some folks aren't the least bit bothered or concerned by the nasty words that float freely around us these days, we're surprised they're so unconcerned about the thousands of dollars such vandalism cost them and their neighbors.

In a year's time, over $50,000 damage in each of the Daly City school districts (elementary and high) alone.

We harp on it a lot.

And we'll keep at it:

"Where was your kid Saturday night?"

Editorial

A Bright Prospect

The need for rapid transit in San Mateo County, and along the Peninsula, has been obvious and recognized for more than a quarter of a century. It has been discussed, studied, surveyed and given intense expensive engineering research. But despite general agreement with the need the attempts to establish rapid transit have been abortive.

Now, time and changing circumstances have made the need so urgent that a real beginning for rapid transit is in the making. The most important of the changing circumstances forcing a real start on rapid transit is that of air travel. While necessity for rapid transit for commuters and inter-city travel, as it was originally seen, has continued to increase — a new element has been added.

The San Francisco International Airport has become the most important terminal point on the whole Peninsula for everyone who must, or wants to, travel. The extreme traffic and parking problem at the airport has effectively crystallized the urgency for transport other than that by motor car.

This is why both the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission and the Bay Area Rapid Transit District have begun joint work on plans to extend BART's lines into the heart of the airport from where they would be capable of connection further down the Peninsula.

The implications of such a project for San Mateo County are tremendous and the county is already participating in the planning at the staff level looking toward an exercise of joint powers.

Consultants for the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission have said that financing for the extension from that city to the airport would present no problem under a favored revenue bond method because a 90 cent fare (including a 25-cent airport surcharge) could produce yearly revenue $5 million over operating expenses for the extension. Little private property would be involved in a routing principally along the old Municipal Railway right-of-way still owned by San Francisco — a right-of-way that extends into Burlingame.

The proposed routing to the airport would touch four San Mateo County cities counting Daly City (already to get BARTD service) Colma, South San Francisco, and San Bruno. It would seem logical for BARTD to tap the passenger potentials along the line, although the consultants believe that this might add $30 millions to the first estimated cost of $60 million for the San Francisco to the airport extension. In any case however, this would be a breakthrough of penetration by rapid transit fairly deeply into this county.

There is logic, too, for BARTD consideration of the fact that this county generates 18 per cent of the passenger traffic at the airport and that this could be a significant revenue factor in any further southerly extension.

What is most crucial now however, is that our county should exert every possible effort to support the extension to the airport. This is the "break" that can speed rapid transit for San Mateo County by many years and bypass many of the difficulties that previously blocked its realization.

Whether the action comes by "joint powers" or develops into a regional project, the prospect for rapid transit here is now far brighter than ever before.

(Daly City Librarian)

'Grand Old Tramp'

THEY CALLED John Muir the grand old tramp and the glacier hunter. With his talents he could have made millions. He could have been famous as an inventor and as a scientist. He could ing. Rather he chose to explore "the wilderness," to analyze what he saw, and have had a political career for the ask—describe it for other men, and finally "to wrist the Sierran temples from the grasp of the money changers."

"Everybody," he wrote, "needs beauty as well as bread, places to play in and pray in."

At John Muir's instance, President Harsinson created three national parks in California — Yosemite, Sequoia, and Kings Canyon. As a result of his labors millions of acres of forest land have become national reserves with their destruction averted if not preserved. Mr. Muir's friendship with Theodore Roosevelt led to the creation of five national parks and sixteen national monuments.

MOVING WITH THE SKILL of soldier John Muir organized his forces into a formidable band that he called the Sierra Club and went to battle the forces that were "wasting public lands."

During his war he battled with sheepmen, lumbermen, builders, tourists and the biggest railroad magnates of his day. "Man is the most dangerous enemy of all," he wrote. Before his fighting days had ceased he saw conservation extend to the Grand Canyon and Petrified Forest of Arizona and eastward to many wondrous places of native and historic spots.

Yet John Muir was not moved by the soul of a soldier. He was gentle, sensitive, poetic. He had a passion for freedom which expressed itself when he was in the wilderness. Thus he wrote: "How truly glorious the landscape circled around this noble summit! Giant mountains, valleys innumerable, glaciers and meadows, rivers and lakes, with the wild blue sky bent tenderly over them all. But in my first hour of freedom from that terrible shadow, the sunlight in which I was loving seemed all in all."

John Muir's kind of freedom was that in which "the mind is fertilized and stimulated and developed like sun fed plants." He wanted men to rise above their political and social conditions and above "scientific controversies" to see "with surer vision the fountains among the summit-peaks. . ."

HIS PASSION for freedom led him to refuse a chair of science at Harvard University because he couldn't think of "leaving God's big show for a mere proffship." He truly pitied those who were so "time poor" they could spend only one day in a national forest.

In spite of his concern for conservation and his passions for freedom, John Muir wrote only to express what he saw and what he felt as he tramped through the forests and as he hung from his fingertips at the tops of the high mountains where he had gone to examine the nature of the rocks or the depth of the glacier.

He was a scientist, a naturalist who had the ability to express himself. The books he wrote are like mountain air. They cleanse the mind of the reader from the dirt of the Twentieth Century. They take him far away from freeways, machines, noise, riots and let him see "God's great show" and feel a part of it.

John Muir's prose — like nature itself — is free of inhibition. In spots it ripples, like a breeze; in others it roars like a wind. Again like nature it is filled with colors and combinations of colors that reveal the free soul who authored it.

JOHN MUIR'S BOOKS may be found in the Daly City Public Library and her sister institutions. To be enjoyed they should be checked out and taken to some place where the reader can be alone as John Muir was alone in the mountains.

County Jail Escape Told

A county jail prisoner escaped from County General Hospital Thursday night in a blue hospital gown.

Deputy Sheriff James Nereli said Robert B. Turner, 21, of 100 Paloma Avenue, Pacifica, crawled out an unguarded window at the rear of his room. The private guard assigned to keep watch on Turner, Earl D. Walker, told Nereli that Turner was in the room at 8 p.m. but was missing when he checked again 15 minutes later.

Turner was wearing pajama pants under the robe.

San Mateo police searched the area around the hospital but found no trace of him. There was a report that he was seen getting into a car driven by a woman who had a baby with her.

His wife, Heidemarie, lives at 1318 Clemson Drive, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Sauer Quits S.S.F. Boys' Club; Director 5 Years

The popular Rom Sauer, executive director of the South San Francisco Boys' Club, has resigned his post it was announced recently.

Sauer, who has served as club leader for five years, said he is leaving because of both business and personal reasons. He is going into private business in Southern California.

Heaping praise on the Board of Directors of the Boys' Club, Sauer said his five years with the club has been "most rewarding." However, he was critical of the shrinking base of support for the local club.

"My stay with the South San Francisco Boys' Club has been a most rewarding one in many ways," Sauer said. "Being part of the fastest growing youth movement in the United States and seeing our local club double in size and almost triple in membership has been most gratifying."

"As a private agency, the Boys' Club depends on community support," he said. "While this support has been strong in some areas, it is unusually weak in other areas. The net result is to settle for something less than the best for those served."

The executive director added, "Our community enjoys having the lowest rate of delinquency in San Mateo County. This must be related to a fine recreation program carried out by both public and private agencies within the community."

Sauer concluded, "The community in turn must realize the efforts being made on their behalf and provide the support needed to give our youth the very best service."

The director has been with the club for five years and has been credited with expanding both the facilities of the club and its influence among the young people of the community.

Duplex Solution Is Sought

Like a bobbing cork on a fisherman's line, the matter of a proposed duplex unit at the north end of Camaritas Avenue in South San Francisco keeps coming up before the councilmen.

City staff is now in the process of tying up loose ends following a meeting of all concerned parties last week. The staff will make a recommendation to the councilmen at the October 20 council session.

It will be up to the councilmen to pull a compatible solution out of the controversy.

William Botteff, the applicant, has continued his pursuit of a use permit to construct the complex even though both the councilmen and planning commissioners denied his initial request.

Undaunted, he paid the $20 fee and resubmitted the identical plans to the planning commission. This time they approved the plans. Commissioners Mario Rafaeli and Nello Lazzari changed their votes.

Their action prompted the Rev. Gilbert Vieira of 4 El Campo Drive to voice a strong protest, both vocally and in print. He questioned the integrity of the planning commissioners regarding the vote change and in general questioned the competency of handling the matter.

Another faction, the South San Francisco School District, also voiced opposition verbally through Supt. Paul Nielsen, and with a letter of protest.

City Planner Dan Pass is on record as strongly opposing the building of a duplex, feeling it will set a precedent for future high rise.

Councilmen, who have control of the fishing pole, seem to have a whale by the tail.

Storm Drain Is Cheaper

A 12 per cent reduction has been made in the cost of assessing property owners for a storm drain to be constructed to the rear of lots that front on Armour Avenue, between Linden Avenue and Airport Boulevard, in South San Francisco.

The contract for the project was let to Dante Venturini on a low bid of $23,197. The bid was $4,000 under the city engineer's estimate, therefore the reduction in the assessment.

Louis Goss, director of public works, said 80 per cent of the property owners signed a petition in favor of the project. The city, incidentally, will pay half the cost.

One protest, in the form of a telegram, was received from Hanna Ziegler, owner of property at 210 Armour Avenue.

Colma Creek Dredging Due

Work soon will be under way for dredging sand from Colma Creek and tributaries.

South San Francisco councilmen let the contract for the rental of dragline equipment to the L. C. Smith Company for $5,260, although the firm was not the low bidder. Charles H. Page, who submitted the low bid of $4,810 did not have a proper contractors license, in the opinion of the California State License Board.

Louis Goss, public works director, said Page would be unable to obtain a proper license in time to complete the desired work.

In addition to the dragline contract, councilmen awarded a contract for the rental of a mobile truck and crane to Barton Construction Company for $4,320.

D.C. Man Given CSAA Position

Ray B. Moore, Jr., Daly City, has been promoted to the position of building engineer for the California State Automobile Association, it was announced last week by Neal Garrison, executive vice president of the motorist organization.

Moore joined the CSAA in October, 1966, as a member of the maintenance staff. He was promoted to assistant building engineer in August, 1967.

'Soul Sounds' At Coast Teen Event

Pacific's Bi-Centennial celebration will include the "Soul Sounds" of the "Mystic Knights" on Sunday night, October 19, from 8 to 11 p.m., at a teen dance in the Terra Nova Gym. This dance will be opened to both the J-Teen and Teen members and their guests.

On Wednesday night, October 15, the Pacific Teen Club will sponsor a Band Battle in the Oceana Gym from 7 to 10 p.m. Sounds for the evening will be featured by "Mother's Apple Grave," "The What" and a surprise group.

The Pacific Teen Club will journey to the San Mateo Roller Rink for a fun pack evening of Roller Skating on Wednesday night, October 22, from 7 to 10 p.m.

The Pacific J-Teeners will make their annual trip to the San Mateo Roller Rink, for a fun-packed evening of roller skating on Friday night, October 24, from 7 to 10 p.m.

PG&E Bypassed For Lighting

Private contractors, rather than the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, will be used to install pathway lighting to service the South San Francisco Westborough ten-acre park.

The decision to do so was based on a question of use of conduit in lieu of direct burial cable. The city's engineering and building departments favor the use of conduit.

PG&E's proposal, based on California Public Utilities Commission General Order 128, would be using direct burial cable, their construction standard. The original proposal by PG&E to the city was to have PG&E construct, own and maintain a pathway of lighting system comprised of thirty 175-watt mercury vapor post top luminaires. They would have individual photo cell controls on concrete poles with underground multiple circuits. Cost for the system would be $6,203, approximately $207 per pole, which includes a credit for an equivalent wood pole overhead supplied system.

In the spring of 1968, the city contracted with PG&E for a similar system at the Orange Memorial Park tennis complex.

At that time, the city installed a six-pole system at a cost of $1,350, averaging about $225 per pole.

According to Robert Maxey, superintendent, recreation and parks, that system has been "completely successful."

In addition to Orange Park, Hickey Boulevard lighting and Westborough Boulevard lighting at the shopping center were installed with direct burial cable by PG&E.

However, the street lighting system to be installed by PG&E on El Camino Real will be in a rigid conduit due to demand by the State Division of Highways.

Bruno Firm Is Looted

Store manager Francis G. Azopardi told San Bruno police someone burglarized his place of business over the weekend, escaping with $207.30 in merchandise.

According to the police report, the San Bruno Lumber Company was broken into between 6 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Sunday. Entrance was made through a sliding door. A glass in a second door, separating the store area from the shop supply area.

Clothes Theft At D.C. Store

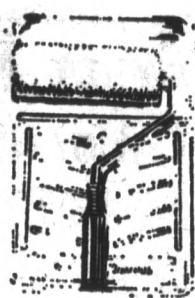

Several suits, hats and miscellaneous clothing were removed from Pauson's men's store in the Westlake Shopping Center.

Daly City police said someone used a garbage can to smash a store window between 2:50 and 4:30 a.m.

Stickney's Restaurant Employees' 10-Year Party

Eleven Stickney employees were recent guests of Adrian "Red" Stickney, president and originator of the restaurants, for cocktails and dinner at his Shirt Tail restaurant in Palo Alto.

Adrian Stickney

Each received a beautiful wristwatch in appreciation for their years of loyal service. An especially proud recipient of the 10-year award was Mary Ann Aldred, Mr. Stickney's hard-working administrative assistant and executive secretary. Also honored were 29 employees who have previously received the 10-year award. Managers of the restaurants also attended the gala event. Diners are still raving about the excellent smelt Frank and Fanny Torres have been serving at their Montara restaurant these past few weeks. Frank claims it is the best run in a long while. . . . Russell Lee, Birdie and the International Explosions continue to pack them in at the Hilton Inn Tiger Room, San Francisco International Airport. All attendance records were broken last weekend, reported Tiger Manager Burt Silverthorn, as standing-room-only crowds lined up four-deep to hear this sensational combo. . . .

HENRY SOLOMON, General Manager of Foster's Lunch System, Ltd., extends an invitation to all Senior Citizens to enjoy a dinner especially prepared for them at Foster's Pancake House in San Mateo. Service from 1:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. and priced at only $1.25, the dinner features a different entree each day. Please show Eligibility Card.

Joe Cala Chairman For Bay Meadows Elks Day

"Pie King" Joe Cala of San Mateo Elks Lodge, 1112, is program chairman for the annual "Elks Day" at Bay Meadows on Saturday, October 18. $5 a person covers the special luncheon in the Thoroughbred Room, which starts at 11:15 a.m., and a reserved seat in the Turf Club.

Joe Cala

Marce Hyman, president of Weight Watchers of Northern California, and Mr. Hyman were recent guests at Rudolfo's Steak House in Palo Alto. Both have personally lost many pounds following the easy regimen of Marce's company. Rudolfo's is famous for hefty, tender USDA Choice steaks, charcoal-broiled on the open fire in the center of the dining room. All-you-wish-of salad and garlic bread are included in the moderate prices. . . . There's a new talent at Fred and Jerry Rapp's Holiday Inn in nearby South San Francisco. Susan Gilner entertains at the pianobar every evening, except Sunday and Monday. Drop by for a relaxer and take in this little gal's talent on the ivories. . . . Lew Lehr's Steak House in San Francisco's Marina District is a favorite spot for the all-time great basketball star, Rick Barry. Rick and owner Lew Lehr can discuss golf, their mutual enjoyment, while Rick enjoys his favorite steak dinner cut-to-order and just the right size to suit his appetite.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Margie Brandon Switches Dedications to Animals

Baron's organist, Margie Brandon, pulls a switch and dedicates "Born Free" to all the animals instead of people at the Powell Street Lounge. Margie, a great animal lover, is the only person we know who swaps songs with birds and talks to dogs and gets away with it. Each evening all pets that belong to the patrons at Baron's are mentioned in the animal dedication. So if you'd like a song sung especially for your pet, stop in and see Margie. She sings for people, too. . . . One of the choicest dishes of head chef Salvador Sandavol and his brother, Abel, at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City is the Pepper Steak. You won't find it on the menu — you must ask for it. All dinner entrees are served with oven hot garlic bread, stuffed baked or Idaho baked potato with sour cream and chives, and crisp tossed salad (choice of dressing). . . . Phil Lehr's Steakery in San Francisco was anything but cool when handsome Robert Forster, star of "Medium Cool," enjoyed dinner in the Wellington Room. Forster, here for the opening of his movie, had many female patrons forgetting their dinner.

Margie Brandon

All interests of Vincent Dell'Osso, a former partner of Dell'Osso's million-dollar showplace restaurant in San Mateo, have been acquired by Frank Petrini, a principal shareholder, Albert Marty, Anthony Zemp and Walter Maeder. Marty was chef with Trader Vic's and the Mark Hopkins Hotel in recent years. Zemp, who will be general manager of the new operation, to be known as Petrini's, was with Ernie's restaurant for many years. Maeder, maitre d'hotel, was also with Ernies. The restaurant will be closed for three to four weeks, except for banquet functions, for remodeling. The new policy will include luncheon, dinner and banquets, featuring Continental fare, seven days a week. . . . Petite Diana George, a comedienne-chanteuse whose entertainment includes everything from torchy blues to swing, moves into the V.I.P. Lounge of the Le Baron Hotel at San Francisco International Airport October 14, through November 22. Featured with Miss George will be the Phil Lenk Trio, featuring Lenk at the piano, Robert Goodenough, bass; Joe Dupuis, drums. Rene Paul and his Quartet wind up their engagement in the lounge tomorrow night. . . .

Frank Petrini

Lucien Sabella's marvelous A. Sabella's restaurant at Fishermans Wharf, San Francisco, is not only famed for seafood dishes, but choice cut meats and fowl. A complete third level is devoted to banquet accommodations. . . . The chicken served at Chicken Unlimited is prepared from their 100-year-old Farm House recipe. Packaged to eat in or take out. . . . One of the most interesting restaurant specials on the Peninsula is Foster's "Dinner for our Senior citizens." It's served Monday through Friday from 1:30 p.m. to 6 p.m., in addition to the regular menu. . . . At long last a tentative opening date has been set for Nick Gust's new Pacifica Papagayo Room, which will be hosted by Al Williams, whose reputation as a Mexican food specialist in the Fairmont Hotel Papagayo Room of years past, will attract people from far and wide. November 1 is the big night. Reservations are suggested right now. . . . Bodee Cominoli's Pioneer Hotel Saloon in Woodside is the ideal setting for early-evening and late-night cocktails. No dinners served, just cocktails. Open from 4 p.m. to 2 a.m. daily. . . . If you're planning a few days of leisure living in the South Lake Tahoe area, check the Rancho Black Rock advertisement.

NELL NORTON

(Sugar 'n Spice)

Good morning, good cooks.

Take a quick look at the date in the top corner of The Post, can you believe that the year has passed this quickly and that we are already in the middle of October? I guess —we have to believe it, the stores are full of Halloween costumes and Christmas decorations have made their appearance. Didn't we just finish our summer vacation? Ah me.

Summer vacation is long past, but the memory lingers on in the form of some recipes gathered on our trip down south. As most travelers seem to do when visiting the Los Angeles area, we went to Disneyland. Needless to say it is as appealing as ever. We especially enjoyed our visit to the Bell System Exhibit of America the Beautiful.

While visiting the Bell Exhibit I met Mrs. Jean Jernberg who is the assistant-manager. To my great pleasure I found that Jean is an enthusiastic recipe collector and, happily, a generous recipe sharer. These next recipes are some that she sent me to share with you good cooks.

DELUXE FRUIT NUT SQUARES

Base:

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/4 cup sifted flour
- 2 tablespoons confectioners sugar

Cream the half cup butter and the two tablespoons confectioners sugar. Gradually work in the cup of sifted flour. Spread into a buttered 9x13-inch pan. Bake in a moderate oven, 350-degrees for 5 minutes. Cool.

Topping:

- 2 eggs
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup sifted flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- 1 cup halved maraschino cherries
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Beat the two eggs, add the cup of brown sugar and cream well. Sift together the one-fourth cup flour, one-half teaspoon baking powder and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Add to the cream mixture and blend. Add the one cup each chopped nuts and maraschino cherries and the half teaspoon vanilla. Spread over the cooked, cooled base and return to the 350-degree oven. Bake about 45 minutes, or until nicely browned. Cool.

Frosting:

- (make 1/2 the recipe)
- 8 tablespoons butter
- 12 tablespoons confectioners sugar
- 2 tablespoons milk or half and half
- 2 tablespoons boiling water
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Beat the eight tablespoons butter and the twelve tablespoons confectioners sugar thoroughly. Add the two tablespoons milk and keep beating. Add the two tablespoons boiling water slowly, beating all the time until stiff (takes about 5 minutes' steady beating). Favor with the half teaspoon vanilla. Spread over the baked cooled cookies. Cut into squares.

You will note that the recipe suggests that you make just half of the amount of frosting, this frosting is so rich and creamy (almost like whipped cream) and the cookies are so rich that a half recipe is adequate.

This next offering can be used either as a salad or a dessert. It has great eye and taste appeal.

FRESCA SALAD

- 1 small can crushed pineapple, drained
- 1 cup liquid
- 1 package lemon gelatin
- 1 cup Fresca (a carbonated drink)
- 1 cup miniature marshmallows
- 1 cup strawberries, cut
- 1 8-ounce carton pineapple yogurt
- 1 cup non-dairy whipped cream topping

Drain the crushed pineapple, combine the juice and enough water to make one cup of liquid. Heat to a boil, remove from heat, add the package lemon gelatin, stir until dissolved. Add the cup of Fresca. Pour into a bowl and place in refrigerator to cool until slightly thickened. Add the cup of marshmallows, the cup of strawberries and the drained pineapple, stir and return to refrigerator to set.

Combine the pineapple yogurt and the non-dairy whipped cream topping and spread on top of gelatin. Decorate with whole strawberries.

Any recipe that makes a meal out of a pound of ground beef is always welcome isn't it? This meat loaf is quite delicious and makes terrific sandwiches; if you are fortunate enough to have any left over.

DEVELOPED MEAT LOAF

- 1 pound ground beef
- 2-thirds cup rolled oats
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/4 cup catsup
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
- 1 tablespoon minced onion
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper

In a large mixing bowl combine the pound ground beef, two thirds cup rolled oats and one egg. Mix well. Combine the one-fourth cup each milk and catsup, one tablespoon each prepared mustard, horseradish and minced onion, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, half teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Blend together and add to the ground meat. Mix and place in a one-quart baking dish; shape into an oblong loaf. Bake in 350-degree oven for about one hour. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Transistors Aid Enjoyment

The stately, ceremonial beauty of classical Japanese theater is being presented this week at the Curran Theater by the traditional national company, Grand Kabuki. This is the epitome of skill, consummate artistry and thorough training. And it supercedes the "quickie" versions we saw recently at the now defunct Kabuki Theater in S.F.

While their programs will change again on Wednesday, they're performing a familiar work to devotees of Japanese films. "Chusingura" ran three hours, with a shortened version also in release. There are normally 11 scenes to this tale of feudal war, honor and love but under the patronage of his Imperial Highness Prince Takamatsu and the Japan Cultural Society who brought them here, we only see four.

Greatly aiding in the enjoyment of so versatile and talented a company is the running commentary and translation of Faubion Bowers who sits in the balcony and relates action for action what we are visualizing onstage . . . complete with frequent sighs and an occasional cough. Transistors are rented in the lobby and the effect is much more personal and warm, then simply reading the synopsis in the program and then trying to piece it all together as the actors sing their lines. It does take the edge off the monotony of the dialogue for those unacquainted with Japanese.

Traditionally, all female roles are played by men and we are treated to the impressive double casting of Shoroku, first as a villain and then as a faithful retainer who avenges his master's death.

OF NO LESSER STATURE, is Baiko who is condemned to commit hara-kiri, in full ceremonial splendor and according to precise custom, even to the wearing of certain robes, and the placing of the left foot upon the death pad.

For those who felt alienated and bored by the nightclub version of Kabuki Theatre seen here at the Japanese cultural center, this masterful troupe is indeed a treat.

The second part of this particular program has full orchestra of singers and musicians seated along the back wall. They accompany the seduction of Baiko by the lion spirit. Here is the elegance and refinement of Japanese dance, complete with fan flipping and delicate hand gestures. The maiden is obsessed by the lion's spirit as she dances with the lion mask and returns from offstage possessed of a long white mane which she swirls at the annoying butterflies above her head.

THE SETS ARE TASTEFUL EXAMPLES of oriental simplicity, with moving panels, ornamented rice paper walls and stylistic temple interiors. A hidden hand draws the curtain back noiselessly and the entire evening is one of tranquility and deep concentration. Even the translator lowers his voice respectfully in the more dramatic moments and one feels an intruder to voice appreciation with applause.

Added dimension for special effect of being part of the drama is achieved by proximity of the actors to the audience by a runway built along the left boxes of the theater, disappearing into a covered entranceway.

Needless to say, costumes are exquisite. And the translator takes the time to identify the symbolism of color to the rank of the lord and temper of the individual wearing it.

It is a faithful and welcome insight to an art form that has not changed in hundreds and hundreds of years.

ALEC ... THE LEADER IN DISCOUNT PRICING SINCE 1961!

Brighten Those Little Faces With A Special Hallowe'en Party In Your Kitchen

Brighten the wistful faces of those youngsters too small to go "trick or treating" with a special Halloween party... in the kitchen.

At the party set the little ones to making nutritious molasses treats to fill the goody bags of those "ghosts and spooks" ringing your front doorbell. (Molasses is rich in energy-producing iron.)

Your young children are sure to feel part of the festivities if they can have the fun of seeing the costumes of the callers, and of giving away the candies and cookies they have made themselves.

Early in the day, make the dough for Molasses Pumpkin Cookie Pops and keep it refrigerated until party time. These are delicious pumpkin-flavored and -shaped cookies, put on sticks and eaten like lollipops. Not only are they fun to eat, but they contain iron-rich light molasses, a plus for any sweet.

Let your youngsters roll out the chilled dough and cut out their own fanciful cookie pumpkins. These can be shaped with a pumpkin cookie cutter or, if desired, use a cardboard design and cut around it with a knife. When the cookies have been baked and cooled, press wooden skewers or ice cream sticks carefully into the bottom of each cookie to form a cookie pop.

The children can frost each cookie pop with colorful orange frosting in keeping with the pumpkin theme. Supply assorted candies and nuts for gaily decorating each pop. Cashew nuts can be used to make mouths... turned up they make a happy face; turned down, a sad one. Candy circles make unusual eyes and shredded coconut or chopped nuts can be used for hair.

Home economists suggest that the fun of an old-fashioned molasses taffy pull will keep the young ones happy while eating or the cookies to bake and cool. Youngsters really enjoy the pulling, squeezing and stretching that converts the taffy into long creamy strands. The delicious orange flavor of this molasses taffy is sure to delight the candy makers too.

Be sure that all the little fingers are well coated with butter during the taffy pull, as this makes the candy creamy and easier to pull back and forth. When all the taffy has turned a golden amber color, have the children pull it into long strips. Cut it with scissors into bite-size pieces and then wrap them in plastic wrap. Tie the ends of each piece with orange yarn. Pile the Molasses Pumpkin Cookie Pops and the Orange Molasses Taffy in two large platters... one for the youngsters to give to the Halloween callers... the other to enjoy themselves!

MOLASSES PUMPKIN COOKIES

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup light molasses
- 1 cup cooked mashed pumpkin, either fresh or canned
- 1 1/2 cups flour, sifted
- 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon ground cloves
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- Orange icing (recipe below)

Coffee Cake With Special Fill Topping

Serving this delicious coffee cake creation with its special filling-topping guarantees compliments, says a home economist. Don't slight the family; make one for them too.

GOOD MORNING COFFEE CAKE

- 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup lard
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in lard. Stir in egg, milk and vanilla. Spread half of batter in greased 9-inch square baking pan. Cover with half of topping mixture. Spoon remaining batter over crumb mixture. Cover with remaining topping. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Yield: 9 servings.

TOPPING MIXTURE

- 1 cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans
- 1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate bits.

Combine sugar, flour, salt and cinnamon. Cut in butter or margarine until mixture has a fine crumb. Add pecans and chocolate bits.

Cashew nuts, candy pieces for decorating. Cream butter and sugar together in a mixing bowl. Blend in light molasses and then pumpkin. Sift together flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, cloves and ginger onto a waxed sheet of paper. Gradually add flour mixture to other ingredients. Blend well at low speed with an electric mixer. Divide the dough into four equal parts; chill for 30 minutes. Knead each dough section into a smooth ball on a floured board. Roll out to one-quarter inch thickness on a floured pastry cloth. (Keep remaining dough in refrigerator until ready to use.) Cut with pumpkin cookie cutter or, with a sharp knife, cut around cardboard cutout of your design. Place on a greased cookie sheet. Bake cookies in a preheated moderate 375-deg. F. oven for 8 to 10 minutes. Cook on a rack. When cool, press wooden skewers or ice cream sticks into the bottom of the cookie to form cookie pop. Do this step carefully as it is important not to shatter the cookies. Frost with orange icing. Decorate face, using cashew nuts for mouths, candy circles for eyes, etc. Makes 5 dozen cookies.

ORANGE ICING
1 lb. package confectioners sugar, sifted,
3 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate

3 tablespoons water
1/2 teaspoon red food coloring
3/4 teaspoon yellow food coloring
Mix liquid ingredients with the sugar. Makes enough to frost 5 dozen cookies.

ORANGE MOLASSES TAFFY
1 1/2 cups sugar,
1 cup light molasses
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons butter

1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon orange extract
Combine sugar, light molasses, salt and heavy cream in a heavy skillet. Stirring, bring mixture to a boil over highest heat. Reduce heat to medium; continue boiling until the mixture reaches 265-deg. F. on a candy thermometer or until a small amount forms a firm ball when dropped in cold water (about 14 minutes). Remove molasses mixture from the heat; add 2 tablespoons butter and sprinkle with baking soda and orange extract. Stir until well blended and butter has melted. Pour onto a large, well-buttered platter. Cool for 5 minutes. Turn edges of taffy into center with a well buttered spatula. Continue cooling for 15 minutes. With buttered spatula, divide taffy into 4 pieces. Grease fingers well with butter. Roll taffy sections into balls with fingers. Pull, fold back and squeeze taffy until it turns a golden color and becomes hard to pull. Pull taffy into long strands, about 1/2 inch in diameter. Cut into bite-sized pieces quickly. Wrap pieces individually in small squares of cellophane wrap or waxed paper; tie ends with orange yarn, if desired. Taffy may also be rolled in confectioners sugar. The taffy should be stored in a closed tin. Makes about 60 pieces.

Those Pumpkins and Dried Ears of Corn Mean the Season Is Almost Upon Us

When pumpkins appear on porches and dried ears of corn show up attached to front doors, the holiday season is upon us. First comes Halloween, then Thanksgiving and Christmas. From beginning to end, it's a whirlwind of activity, not the least of which is the preparation of goodies for the season.

Popcorn, the ubiquitous movie snack, comes into its own during the holiday season. Popcorn balls make perfect, and inexpensive, handouts for trick or treaters and a popcorn cake is as equally at home at a Christmas eve teen get-together as it is at Halloween.

Apples on a stick also belong to more than one holiday. If your first thought is for Halloween, and rightly so, think Christmas and how a candied apple would fit the season with its bright red color and cinnamon flavor.

Newest twist for candied apples and popcorn balls are Apple and Popcorn Uglies. The idea is to decorate the balls and candied apples with the nuttiest faces you can dream up. Do it with an assortment of candies and a wild imagination.

As for other goodies, the easier the better. Make a fruit cake with a date-nut mix. Make 10-minute fudge, no-cook rum balls, easy Nut Chews.

Plan your holiday fanfare now!

QUICK POPCORN
 1/2 cup corn oil
 1/2 cup popcorn
 Salt
 Heat corn oil in large (4-quart) heavy saucepan over medium heat about 3 minutes. Test temperature of corn oil with 1 corn kernel. When it pops add popcorn. Partially cover pan and shake frequently over medium heat until popping stops. Salt to taste.
 Makes 2 quarts.

Note: Do not double recipe.
CANDIED POPCORN CAKE
 3 quarts popped corn
 1 cup light corn syrup
 1 cup sugar
 1/4 cup chopped candied cherries
 1 teaspoon peppermint or mint extract
 1 cup salted or dry roasted mixed nuts
 Gum drops, to decorate
 Mix light corn syrup and sugar in heavy saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, just until mixture comes to a boil and sugar is completely dissolved. Add cinnamon candies and flavoring. Gradually pour mixture over popped corn and mixed nuts in a large kettle, stirring until both are completely coated. Press into a greased 3-quart container. Cool. Remove from pan, decorate with gum drops and serve.

Popcorn Balls: Follow recipe for Candied Popcorn Cake with or without nuts and candied cherries but instead of pressing mixture into a cake pan, shape with greased hands into balls using as little pressure as possible. Wrap balls tightly in plastic film, if desired. Makes 9 (2 1/2-inch) balls.

Note: If popcorn cools during shaping and does not stick together, place over low heat.
For Tinted Popcorn: Add food coloring to syrup mixture before adding to popped corn.

Popcorn Ugies: After shaping popcorn balls insert wooden skewers. Pour small amount of light corn syrup into small bowl. Dip small candies such as gumdrops, licorice laces, life savers, etc. into syrup and stick on popcorn ball for eyes, nose, mouth, ears and head decorations.

Popcorn Pine Cone Bird: Press candied popcorn ball mixture into a greased round bottomed cup for base of bird. Remove and wrap in plastic film. With greased hands, shape a small ball for head. Wrap in plastic film. Bend a firm wire to fit around middle of a small pine cone and extend below cone for bird legs. Twist another wire at base of cone and insert into small popcorn ball to attach head. Push wire legs into popcorn base. Wire on tail decorations and add eyes and bill by sticking on candies with a bit of light corn syrup. Tie yarn or ribbon around the bird's neck.

Camino Joins Title Fight

By JERRY LITTELL
Post Sports Writer

If one measure of a team's maturity is the degree to which it improves each week then the El Camino Colts, despite being just 2-2, could have come of age Friday on South San Francisco's warm-winded Clifford Field.

Putting together a near-perfect effort the Colts completely stopped undefeated Half Moon Bay, 20-0, and in the process established themselves as a serious threat in further conference action.

In another league game Friday afternoon South SF got rolling against Oceana in garnering a 47-3 victory to snap a two-game losing streak. Jefferson won a non-league affair over Serramonte, 12-0.

The Cougars invaded South SF with a 3-0 record and a high-scoring offense revolving around left-handed quarterback

Jim Emery. Not only was the offense unable to score last night, it had problems getting away from the line of scrimmage.

Emery, who has had and will have better days, threw for five interceptions as the Cougars were forced deep in their own territory by a persistent Cold defense which stopped the rol-out HMB running game at 23 yards.

The Colts did the two things necessary to win the game — forced a pass rush and erected a solid pass defense. Fullback Dennis Neil, who did more than his share on offense, picked off two Emery aeriens as well. Tackle Bob Bruce and guard Terry Andreacchi led the charge that forced the visitors out of their offensive plans.

Taking over on HMB's 35 early in the second period the Colts scored after seven plays when Neil bulled over from the two, breaking two tackles along the way.

After a good defensive effort stopped the Colts from scoring early in the third period the Cougars were stymied again when Emery, who despite the errors is still the best QB in the NPL, fumbled on his own seven.

Camino recovered and three plays later Neil again scored from the four.

The one thing the Colts had lacked until last night was a passing game but not any more. Quarterback Joe Shannon threw perfect strikes on four out of five tries and the final EC score came when halfback Bob McKenzie threw a three-yard option pass to Mike Canavan with just 40 seconds left. Neil ended the night with 107 yards in 23 carries.

It might have been too much too late yesterday but the Warrior offense, held to seven points in the last 10 quarters, exploded by the winless Sharks. Halfback Leo Bernardini, playing less than half the game, managed to score three touchdowns on runs of five and three yards plus a 23-yard pass from quarterback Brad Brian.

Lou Araquistian's 30-yard field goal gave the Sharks a little life but three quick touchdowns in the final five minutes of the first half left little to do after intermission but run out the clock.

The biggest play on defense for the SSF crew, which hopefully waits with baited breath for each Westmoor score, came when defensive end Potymoe Sologa blocked an attempted punt in the end zone and recovered it for a score.

Score by Quarters
HMB 0 Camino 7
Scoring: Neil, 2 r. (Ingersoll kick); Neil, 4 r. (Ingersoll kick); Canavan, 3 p. from McKenzie (kick fails).

Crestmoor Bows To Falcons, 12-6

It appears as though Lady Luck has no intention of bestowing her graces upon Crestmoor's luckless Crestmoor Falcons, as witnessed on the Capuchino field on Friday afternoon. The Falcons were defeated by a very weak Aragon team, 12-6, for their fourth straight loss.

For the first three quarters it appeared as though Crestmoor was on the way to its first win of the season. The Falcons scored their first touchdown in three weeks early in the second quarter and held a six to nothing lead going into the final stanza. But the dormant Dons came to life early in the fourth period.

With four minutes gone in the stanza Aragon signal caller Steve Newby connected on a 49-yard pass play to end Mike Pavone. The Dons went for the two-point conversion but failed to score. Crestmoor was unable to move the ball and was forced to turn the pigskin over with 45 seconds remaining in the game. The Dons moved the ball down to the Falcon 20 and were hit with a 15-yard penalty which moved the ball back to the 30-yard line with 25 seconds remaining.

Newby then hit Pavone on the same play he scored upon earlier and it was all over for the Falcons. The Dons kicked off with 15 seconds left but Crestmoor was unable to mount an attack.

The deciding factor for the Falcons turned out to be the interception and score by a Crestmoor defensive back which was called back because of a clipping penalty which occurred away from the play.

Crestmoor will face Burlingame next Friday night and Aragon will meet Capuchino in MPL league play.

Bulldogs on Spot

CSM Soccermen Host Sister Unit

This is an historic week in sports for the San Mateo Junior College District.

Following the first league competition between two colleges of the district Tuesday will be the first competition of any kind between new Skyline College and another district member Thursday.

Canada College, College of San Mateo, and Skyline all are members of the Western Junior College Soccer Conference, of which CSM is the defending champion. CSM was at Canada in yesterday's game and Skyline will be at San Mateo, in Thursday's contest, at 3 p.m.

Canada and CSM met in non-league basketball and wrestling competition last year, the Redwood City campus' first year of operation. However never before in its previous 47 years of athletic competition has CSM had to contest for league supremacy with a sister college.

To put it mildly, the Bulldogs are on the spot as defending soccer champs.

In three outings to date San Mateo has posted a 0-1-2 record, including a tie with the University of Santa Clara varsity in a non-league game.

Both Canada and Skyline swept by their first five opponents without a scratch. And, in league play, Canada is the WJCC pacesetter at 2-0. (Skyline had a first round bye.)

Canada is paced by the Zylker brothers, Rick and Jim, from South San Francisco. Team captain Rick played on CSM's 1967 co-championship team, which current Canada coach Sil Vial tutored. Jim was the North Peninsula League's top player last season.

Skyline is coached by Norm

Friedberg, whose Galileo High School team last year was the undefeated Academic Athletic Association champion in San Francisco.

His all-fresh squad at the new San Bruno college is headed by defensive star Ashok Kumar from Crestmoor High at halfback, right wing Gino Ruiz from Mission High and Daly City, center forward Nick Nicholas (MVP at Westmoor), and center half Robie Richards (South San Francisco).

Veteran CSM coach Stu Carter, in only his second season at the soccer helm, has but two lettermen back from last year's 13-0-2 club. Both were second team all-conference selections in '68 — fullback Mario Bernardini from South San Francisco and forward Germano DiLorenzo, a Sequoia grad living in San Carlos.

San Mateo had gone through 19 games without a loss since a 4-2 tie with Merritt in the mid-season of the 1967 season before

City College of San Francisco edged the Bulldogs, 4-3.

Lightweights At Westmoor Win Again

The Westmoor Ram's C's and D's lightweight squads achieved their fourth straight victories, as the D's dumped Jefferson, 30-0, and the C's nipped Jefferson, 54-33, on the Ram home court in an overtime thriller.

Bob Fidler peppered Jefferson's defense for a total of 14 points. Along with tremendous hustle from Louis Medrano, and rebounding plus seven points from Jerry Mitchell, the D's or D's were able to stay ahead the whole game. Though a press was put on the Ram quintet the last quarter, they faltered, but again gained control of the game and coasted in for the win.

A game couldn't be much closer than the one between the C's also 120's of Jefferson and Westmoor. Jeff led most of the game right up to the last few seconds, when forward Rory Poblitz tied up the game with a clutch-free throw.

Rams Win in Cross Country

In a three-way cross country meet on the Westmoor Rams course on October 7, the Rams trounced Jefferson and Serramonte in both varsity and sophomore competition.

Scorers in the varsity competition were Jefferson 43, Serramonte 65, and Westmoor 20. Leading the Westmoor men was Kevin La Roch.

In the sophomore meet, the Rams won with a low score of

D.C. Flyers Are Upset By San Carlos

The Daly City Flyers were upset by the San Carlos Lions, 14 to 6, Sunday at Jefferson High School in a Pop Warner game.

The game was a battle of defenses, with both teams remaining scoreless in the first half.

San Carlos came back in the third quarter to score on a run by Larry Gullette. The extra point was made by Eric Diaz.

The highlight of the third quarter for the Flyers was the recovery of a San Carlos fumble by Frank Duncan. Even with the good field position this gave them the Flyers were unable to score.

The Flyers only scare was halfway through the fourth quarter. Grant Thompson received a 70-yard touchdown pass from Phil Cuadra.

The try for the extra point failed.

Frank Duncan gave the Flyers another good opportunity to score when he recovered another San Carlos fumble but again the Flyers didn't score. With three minutes to go, San Carlos scored its second touchdown, and the extra point was good.

The Daly City Flyers fifth quarter unit settled to a 0-0 finish with the San Carlos fifth quarter team.

CUB PACK 63 resumed play in the PAL Soccer League with practice at Westlake Park under direction of Coach Michel Martin, asst. coach Ernie Ching and training supervisor Herb Boeges. The team, A&G Wolves, is sponsored by A&G Appliances of 125 Clement Street. A Series Playback
—But Not This Year's Competition

By LE PACINI

LUCKILY, with the World Series now starting on the weekend, and with the divisional playoff system, we have been unable to predict a Series victor, primarily because we couldn't have known who the division champs were before a column deadline for a piece on the Series was due.

We even conveniently forgot to include our divisional champs prediction in last week's column, another stroke of fortune, because we had both the Braves and the Orioles figured in five games.

And, besides, we've gone out of our way not to predict anything since the 1965 World Series, because no human or computer predictor could have ever been more perfect. We'll just never be able to top that performance.

Thus, as a self-tribute (and as a therapeutic device to combat our annual predilection to slash our wrists — we didn't bet a dime on our 10 million to 1 shot), we reprint our fearless 1965 World Series predictions, followed by a brief resume of what actually happened, for handy reference and reverence:

"WE THINK THAT the Series will go seven games, that the Dodgers will win it only because of a superhuman pitching effort by Koufax in the finale at Minneapolis.

"Drysedale will get blasted in the opener, and Koufax will allow three or four runs in the second game and lose by one or two. Back in L.A., the Dodgers will rally with Osteen, Drysdale and Koufax. The Twins will tie it in the sixth back home, and Koufax'll finish 'em off in the seventh."

Actual results:

FIRST GAME: Minnesota exploded for six runs off Drysdale in the third inning to eventually win, 8-2.

SECOND GAME: Koufax retired after six innings, having given up two runs. The Twins won, 5-1.

THIRD, FOURTH AND FIFTH GAMES: Back in L.A., Osteen, Drysdale and Koufax won, in that order.

SIXTH GAME: Back home, the Twins won.

SEVENTH GAME: Pitching out of order, Koufax hurled his second straight shutout at the Twins, allowing only three hits. (He had allowed four in the previous game.)

There were several factors that made those predictions tougher than the normal type predictions. To begin with, the Dodgers had won 15 of their last 16 regular season games. To pick them to lose the first two against the Twins was tough enough, but it also meant picking Drysdale and Koufax to lose back-to-back, which in those days happened about as often as Carol Doda blazes.

Taking it further, we picked Drysdale to get knocked out of the box and Koufax to allow three or four runs (we NEARLY picked that one on the nose) during a spell when both of them had been throwing nothing but shutouts. We also had to pick Koufax to pitch out of turn in that seventh game.

We say without fear of sounding like a fat head that it was an amazing feat of predicting, made more amazing by the fact that this columnist has been known, for example, to go entire racing seasons without ever picking a winning horse. Without, in fact, ever even picking a runner-up. We also predicted in 1950 that Mickey Mantle would never make it, in 1955 that Vince Martinez would be the next great middleweight champ, in 1962 that Cassius Clay had a glass jaw and was a bum in many other ways and that if Sonny Liston ever got ahold of him he'd murder him ... and you get the idea.

No, that 65 World Series was a monument to blind luck. (Although at the time we felt we had worked it out logically, mathematically.) But on the other hand, we had never before predicted a Series outcome, and haven't since. In that way, nobody will ever really be able to PROVE that it was luck, and we can live with the thought that for at least once in our life, we were very nearly perfect.

NO MATTER HOW great a pennant winning team may be, most of them don't usually have more than one or two future Hall of Famers on the playing roster. The Mets, for instance, could have a couple in Tom Seaver and Jerry Koosman, but it's far too early to tell. The Orioles? Frank and Brooks Robinson? Sure, perhaps Paul Blair has the makings; Boog Powell, maybe, if he could do something other than hit. And the Orioles are considered a great team.

Now consider the 1928 Philadelphia Athletics. They had more future Hall of Famers on their roster than any team in baseball history. Eight of 'em: Connie Mack (manager), Ty Cobb, Eddie Collins, Tris Speaker, Mickey Cochrane, Lefty Grove, Jimmie Foxx and Al Simmons.

Baseball being the curious game it is, however, that collection could manage only a second place finish to — you guessed it — the Yankees. The trouble was, of course (aside from the Yankees, also a pretty good group of Hall of Famers), that Cobb, Speaker and Collins were in the twilight of their careers, and that Foxx was still a year away from a regular status role.

THIS WAS SUPPOSED to be the year the game was given back to the hitters, and to an extent it was, but there were 15 twenty game winners in the majors this year as opposed to last year's seven.

The difference is that the really good pitchers just kept winning while the fringe types sought and found their level. This year's pitching staffs, in general, just weren't as deep as last year's.

(The Giants, for instance, had Marichal and Perry, and after that it was quite a drop-off. Last year, almost every pitcher on the squad had ERA's below 3.00.)

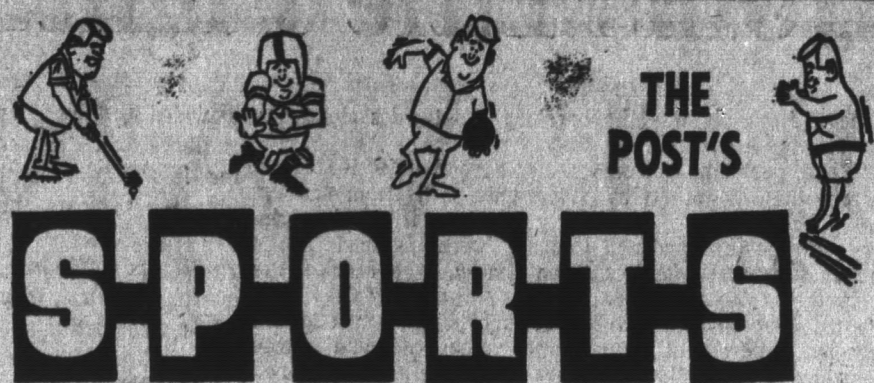

As a consequence, managers found they more often had to go with their old reliables, rather than being able to give them breather with the fringe types-turned tiger. That and the closer pennant races, necessitating more reliance on the true first rars, probably accounted for the higher frequency of 20 win performances.

As you may have noticed, Hank Aaron, with a chance to tie or go ahead of leader Willie McCovey's seasonal homerun mark on the last game of the season, chose to sit the game out.

Aaron came back to whack three homers in the playoffs, which indicate that he might have been able to wrest the homerun title away from McCovey. There are some cynics who say Aaron sat because he wanted an "out," if he didn't beat Willie. That's ridiculous thinking for anyone who's followed Aaron's career ... or even for anyone who only watched him perform in the playoffs.

We don't really know why Aaron sat out. As far as we know, there has been no official explanation. He apparently wasn't hurt at the time.

We believe he sat out because he's a team player and because he's getting a little old. That last game meant nothing to the team, and Aaron had played a long, hard season. The playoffs did mean something to the team. We believe he rested, sacrificed a possible homerun title, for the sake of the team, so that he would be more ready for the Mets. And he was. Unfortunately, the rest of the team wasn't.

THE POST'S SPORTS

Capuchino Also Suffered Fright

For a pennant favorite, the Capuchino Mustangs do nothing to detract from the excitement of the game.

The highly favored Tams made their 1969 Mid Peninsula debut a successful one on Friday afternoon, but not one which impressed the experts.

Coach Vince Marchi's crew, who only last week battled Nor-Cal powerhouse St. Ignace down to the final bitter second, was life and death to get past Hillsdale yesterday, finally winning 14-6.

The Knights, led by quarterback Brad Metheany, spotted the winner an early touchdown and then battled the Mustangs on even terms until the final moments of the game.

Meanwhile, Cap quarterback star Keith Hernandez only hit on six of 14 attempts for 115 yards, with the winners content to ground it out on the turf.

Cap's Steve Adornetto set up the first score when he stole a Metheany aerial and ran it back 37 yards to the Hillsdale 20-yard line. Several plays later Steve McDonald bulldozed over from the three-yard stripe for the score. Cap then went for the two-point conversion, with Hernandez hitting Joe Maples to give the visitors an 8-0 lead.

The Mustangs seemingly were headed for another score late in the third period when they drove all the way from their own 20 to the Hillsdale 13-yard line in five plays. However, the Knight defense stiffened up and the Mustangs eventually had to surrender the ball.

The underdog Knights made it 8-6 midway through the final period when Metheany found Alex Kertel with a seven-yard toss. Hillsdale then attempted to tie it up, but the two-point conversion attempt was no good.

Cap finally iced the game in the final minutes when Hernandez hit Tom Dazelle with a 50-yard scoring bomb.

Skyline Booters Seek Sixth Win

Skyline College of San Bruno hosts Ohlone College in a 12-noon match at the Portola High School grammar school field.

Skyline annexed its fifth game against no defeats Wednesday when it up-ended the UC Berkeley Jayvees, 4-1, on the loser's turf. Nick Nicolas scored three of the four goals to pace the winners.

A Close One, But Rams Defeat T.N.

Charity, as the saying goes, should begin at home but certainly not on the football field as Westmoor coach Pete Matisi learned Friday.

The almost-costly lesson in that virtue nearly cost the Rams their lead in the North Peninsula League race but the Daly City eleven held on in the dying moments of the game for an 18-14 win over Terra Nova.

Scoring quickly in the first period the Rams appeared headed for three periods. But free substitution often jumbled up the Westmoor organization and the Rams own offense went to a virtual standstill in the last three periods.

"When we scored those first for an easy time and they actually held the Tigers scoreless two quick ones I wanted to keep the score down. In the substituting process we got mixed up and disorganized and just could never get untracked after that," explained Matisi. "I take all the blame for putting the pressure on the players in the last period when the first string had to come back in, after cooling off, to hold onto the ball."

Westmoor opened their attack on the first series by marching

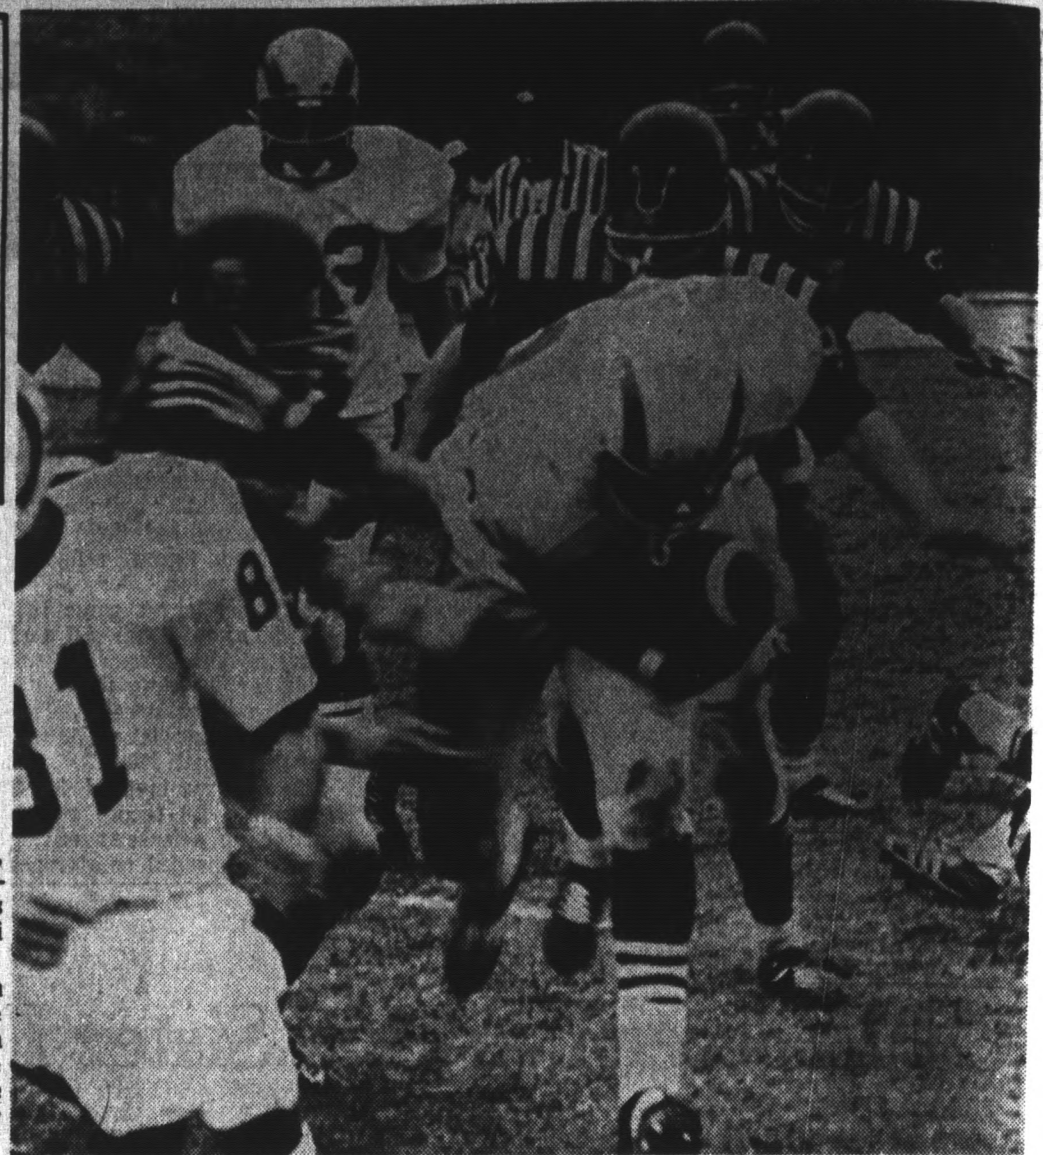

80 yards downfield in 10 plays, capped by a 25 yard scoring toss for m quarterback Mike Swallow to halfback Jim Lewis, catching his first pass of the year.

Terra Nova had one offensive play and fumbled on the 27. Two plays later Swallow hit sophomore end Bob McLennon for the second touchdown on the 27.

The Tigers, meanwhile, spent the entire first half attempting to get untracked themselves. Halfback Tim Lutz carried the burden until intermission after which fullback Mike Humphrey, who was the game's top rusher with 153 yards in 13 carries, became a one-man show.

Before he could go to work, however, the Rams added the final, and winning, points when Lewis, who got 151 yards for his day's efforts, bulldozed over from the three in the third period.

Humphrey got the Tigers' first score on a seven-yard run

THIS WAS Friday as Westmoor's Jim Lewis once again provided the spark as Rams were scared, but victorious, this time against Terra Nova. (Post Photo)

All Is 'Love' Now Between City Council, Recreation

Everything is love now between the San Bruno Park and Recreation Commissioners and city councilmen concerning a problem of lack of communication.

This is the way Commissioner Charles Bacigalupi summed up the result of one item on a study session agenda of a meeting between the commissioners, councilmen and police department representatives.

Commissioner Max Helmbacher told the councilmen, "We have a job and position to assist you, and we would like to do that, not be bypassed on decisions that concern the commission."

Mayor Neil Christal emphasized that it was not the intent of the councilmen to purposely bypass the commission. He said that on one or two occasions it was necessary for the council to make a decision that had to be made prior to the next scheduled meeting of the commissioners.

The commissioners indicated that the frequency of the council's actions along this line had diminished considerably. Their main concern last night was only to point out that they would like to have items of a park and recreation nature referred to them in the future before any council action.

S.S.F. Police Holding PAL Funds Campaign

Within its 11-year history the South San Francisco Police Department for only the third time is holding a fund-raising drive for its Police Athletic League.

Mayor Frank Bertuelli recently declared October as PAL month, to start off the fund-raising for the baseball, hunter safety, bowling, scouting, and other programs of the league.

Lt. Dave Casey is heading the police department drive which has had the support of numerous local community leaders.

Judge F. J. deLarios, of the northern municipal court, is supporting the drive. In a letter to Richard Lockard, citizen coordinator for the PAL, Judge deLarios said: "The Police Athletic League provides for young people both a worthwhile activity and the help of concerned adults."

"Young people can profit also from the realization that the police officers and others who donate and devote their efforts to this most worthwhile organization are examples of citizenship at its best, dedicated to the public service in their private lives as well as in their profession."

Judge deLarios concluded by appealing to all members of the community to support PAL.

In another letter, Father James McKay, director of vocations for the archdiocese of San Francisco, in a letter to St. Veronica's Parish in South San Francisco also pledged their support to PAL "which provides a valuable service for the youth today."

False Report Is Charged In Shooting

A Daly City man was arrested October 7 on the unusual charge of filing a false police report after investigation indicated he was not a victim of an assault with a deadly weapon as claimed, but instead had shot himself accidentally.

A Daly City police spokesman said Ronald Fred Walrod, 27, of 9 Portola Drive had reported the alleged ADW on October 6. During followup investigation the following day, police learned Walrod's injuries were suffered accidentally.

But, the authorities said they also discovered Walrod had stolen property in his possession and that he was carrying a firearm without a license.

The reported assault with a deadly weapon assertedly had taken place at Walrod's home at 8:45 p.m. October 6.

Mortgage Rates

QUESTION: Why are mortgage rates lower than rates on installment loans?

ANSWER: It is because the average handling cost to the lender per dollar loaned is lower for a mortgage loan. Such loans are substantially larger than typical installment loans, and they are repaid over a longer period of time. This helps to offset the monthly processing expenses. The lender passes the saving on to the customer in low cost per dollar borrowed.

QUESTION: I have a complaint to make against a certain company. Will the Better Business Bureau take down this information and call the company for me.

ANSWER: NO! Contact the Better Business Bureau if, after contacting the company concerning your complaint you are still dissatisfied. You will receive a form on which to state your complaint as the Bureau must have your complaint in writing.

Scholarship To Limcaco

Dave Limcaco, Terra Nova Senior, has been awarded a $2,000 college scholarship for his successful work as a Fuller Brush salesman.

He was among the 10 scholarship award winners selected this year by the National Fuller Brush Company.

Dave was selected because of his outstanding sales record as a part-time salesman during the summer.

Dave has attended Terra Nova since 1967. He went to Jefferson for his freshman year. He is now taking college prep and business courses and plans to use his scholarships to study business and business-related mathematics at a Bay Area College.

PTA MEETING

Terra Nova's annual Back to school night will be held Thursday, October 16. Parents will meet in the cafeteria at 7 p.m. and from 7:30 to 9:45 will follow their children's class schedules.

NAACP Plans Guest Talk This Sunday

Leonard Carter, regional director of the NAACP, will be the guest speaker at the first meeting of the Daly City Branch of the civil rights organization October 19, at 4 p.m., at the Second Baptist Church, 5 Wellington Street.

The local branch has been organized by Mrs. Madge Bradstreet, a resident of Daly City for the past 10 years. She has signed up over 50 people to get the local group chartered.

"We want to be of service to Daly City," Mrs. Bradstreet says. "There are more and more minority group people coming to the area and we hope to be able to bring them into the larger community."

The NAACP dates from 1910. Its efforts in the courts and in various legislative halls have resulted in the great advances in civil rights in the past 20 years.

Currently the national and regional offices are engaged in an attempt to bring about greater hiring of minority group members in the construction industry.
